Voting, Here and There.
A Fiske-Ecker Suggestion.
For Emperor, Gen. Chang.
Big and Thorough.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

(Copyright, 1927.)

THE vote in New York gave the city power to lease land for houses to be rented at reasonable prices, and also allowed the city to borrow $300,000,000 to build needed subways. This is along the line of human intelligence. The vote was a victory for Gov. Smith and Mayor Walker.

IN Ohio, on Tuesday, prohibition suffered, voters refusing to let the Anti-Saloon League give justices of the peace fees in prohibition cases to stimulate their energy.

IN Detroit, the candidate for mayor who promised he would save the people from wood alcohol by letting them get good whisky, was defeated.

PHILADELPHIA, electing Senator Vare's candidates for mayor and Council by a big majority, indicates that Pennsylvania wants Mr. Vare in the Senate.

JAMES ROLPH, Jr., is elected mayor of San Francisco for the fifth term of four years. Those that have seen San Francisco's parks and other proofs of efficiency are not surprised.

LIFE insurance is big and intelligent business. This country's policies amount now to ninety thousand millions of dollars. The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company spends money for advertising information on health, a wise and public-spirited move. Health is the thing that makes life insurance profitable. Death means loss.

THE twenty-five largest life insurance companies own nearly five billions of bonds. Those that, like the Metropolitan, specialize in good health advice, warn you to be careful of your teeth.

TEETH in the United States grind up more than thirty-seven million dollars worth of food a day, and the good effects of food depend on the grinding.

MR. HALEY FISKE, Mr. Ecker and other wise men of the Metropolitan might consider the advisability of establishing scientific institutes of dentistry to look after their policyholders' teeth at cost, plus a reasonable profit. The company that built excellent apartment houses to rent for $9 a room might also build dentist chairs to rent for three or four dollars an hour.

CHANG-TSO-LIN, fighting general of North China, wants to be crowned emperor and has wise men investigating the proper ceremonies.

One really great fighter, greatest perhaps that ever lived, Genghis Khan, made himself lord of China, didn't condescend to take the throne at all, and never went back inside the Chinese wall. He sent someone else to do the ruling for him.

GEN. CHANG, who makes his visits with a machine gun mounted on his private automobile, was formerly a bandit. But bandits have become emperors, and many emperors have been bandits, since and before Alexander and Napoleon.

ANOTHER oil gentleman declines to testify concerning the trailing of jurymen in the oil case. He says it might incriminate him. He is probably right about that.

GIVE "big money" credit for thoroughness. The government already has the names of fourteen different detectives hired to go after jurors in the Fall-Sinclair case. "Expense no object" was evidently the motto.

THE Reverend Dr. Straton, of New York, says doctors are unnecessary because "Those who are enlightened concerning God's healing powers have no need of doctors."

If the Reverend Doctor should develop a cancer, heaven forbid, or break a leg, he might discover that Providence leaves something for science and the doctors to do. Did the Doctor ever hear of faith curing a broken leg in modern times?

TWO aviators in the American Marine service were murdered in Nicaragua when their machine made a forced landing—killed by a crowd of twenty to one, after desperate fighting.

That is the sort of thing that starts wars. The killing of one man, the Austrian heir apparent, was the spark that started the big war.

No war will start this time, because Nicaragua is too small. An elephant can't fight a chipmunk. And besides the government of Nicaragua had nothing to do with it.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE is said to favor a repeal of United States inheritance taxes. Many will agree with the President. Why not tax a man while alive, able to earn and to fight, instead of waiting until he is dead and taxing his corpse, or his widow and children?

LEAK QUIZ IS ALSO PUT "ON ICE"

The Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce report of its investigation into affairs of the county commissioners' office has been placed "on ice." At a meeting of the board of directors of the chamber last night it was voted to give the report into the hands of a special committee, and immediately the directors adjourned the meeting and ran to their berths in the special train which departed for a 10-day tour of the Southwest.

The municipal affairs committee presented its voluminous report which had been gathered through many weeks searching in county records, and at the same time, the demand was made as to why the information in documents had leaked to the Taxpayers' Committee of Allegheny County for its political advertisements. Ordinarily the report

Offer Clean Vote

For the first time in the history of Allegheny county, a political party formally offered its assistance in securing clean elections when Attorney Charles B. Prichard today appeared as a representative of the Republican Party before Judges James B. Drew and Harry H. Rowand, who are presiding over the official returning board.

"The Republican party and the leaders in its organization stand for, work for and stand ready to co-operate with all agencies for an honest, fair and lawful conduct of elections, and an honest, fair and lawful count," he said. "We fully appreciate that the future welfare of our party and the community we represent is best served by an honest conduct of elections."

KING BEN IS BANISHED FROM LOVE CULT

By International News Service.

BENTON HARBOR, Mich., Nov. 10.—"King" Benjamin Purnell, who has ruled the House of David with an iron hand for years, must abdicate, Judge Louis H. Fead decided in an opinion filed here today.

Purnell is guilty of betrayal of women and young girls of the colony through "use of the sacred aspirations of religion to gratify his lust," Judge Fead's decision reads.

For such conduct Purnell must relinquish title to the House of David and leave the colony, the judge decreed.

BOMB FROM AUTO IN MINE WAR

EXPLOSIVE SHATTERS COAL DIGGERS' HOUSE

Mine warfare broke out afresh when a bomb, hurled from a passing auto, last night, demolished the front of a double house at Mansfield, near Carnegie, Pittsburgh Coal Company officials revealed today.

One man, an unidentified Negro, who lived next door, was cut by flying glass when the explosion shattered the windows of his home.

Negro occupants of the house, which is owned by the coal company, were in the rear when the blast shook the district.

The bombers sped away before pedestrians were able to note the number of men in the machine or the license number.

Rob Bank Runner of $25,000

By International News Service.

BIRDSBORO, Pa., Nov. 10.—Hard-pressed by a posse of state police and citizens, a bandit and his accomplice abandoned their automobiles in the wild, rough hills of Chester county, near here, today after robbing a postoffice clerk here of between $25,000 and $30,000 in a registered pouch for the Birdsboro bank.

Five thousand dollars of the money was found in one of the abandoned machines.

One bandit struck Webster Evans over the head this morning as he was carrying the money sent by the Philadelphia Federal Reserve Bank to the Birdsboro Bank. The bandit seized the money and fled in an automobile. Then a confederate in another machine sped away after him.

ANNA LUDMILLA

Recognized one of the greatest exponents of the classical dance on the American stage today, Anna Ludmilla has forsaken her art to do a jazz song and dance act with Gorgeous Georges Carpentier, who was somewhat of a fighter before he met up with Jack Dempsey. Ludmilla and Carpentier, in front of their own orchestra, will open at Nice, November 18, on a short tour before hitting Paris for the winter.

COL. C. T. BUNDY

Eight years ago, Private Meyers shivered in his boots when Col. Bundy chanced to look in his direction, but today at the One Hundred and Seventh Field Artillery reunion they sat down and had a good laugh together about their experiences in France. Meyers was the baby of the regiment, having enlisted before he was 18. Col. Bundy, a major during the war, was in command of the Second Battalion, One Hundred and Seventh Field Artillery.

Countess Is Found Dead

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—(AP.)—Countess Blanca de Ovies, 65, widow of Count Julian de Ovies, once Chilean consul at Pittsburgh and Chilean commissioner to the United States, was found dead yesterday in her apartment in West Twenty-third street. Her death, attributed to heart disease, had occurred apparently Tuesday.

107TH VETS 'MOBILIZE' HERE FOR REUNION

Armistice Day comes to Pittsburgh tomorrow with a program befitting a city which gave one of the first three soldiers—and further hundreds—to die in the struggle which ended nine years ago. First comes the parade down Fifth avenue at 10:30 a. m. Then, following numerous luncheons of veterans, comes the dedication at 2:15 of a memorial plaque, in the City-County Building, to Woodrow Wilson, war President, with Mrs. Wilson present. Throughout the day there will be carried out the activities attendant on the reunion of the One Hundred and Seventh Field Artillery Regiment, gathered together today for the first time since the war.

These veterans, many of them from Pittsburgh and the rest chiefly from Eastern Pennsylvania, began forgathering this morning—"Runt" and "Slim" and "Balloon Head" and "Bug Ears" and all the rest. Visitors were registered and breakfasted at Alfred E. Hunt Armory, Emerson and Alder streets, and then were taken sight-seeing. This afternoon the smaller units of the organization held informal reunions, preparatory Cooking school is not exactly a place where one would expect to hear a sermonette, full of good advice and good hard sense. But that is what the women and girls of the Sun-Tele Cooking School at Memorial Hall heard yesterday afternoon.

However, it did not seem like a sermon as Mrs. George Thorn, teacher, stood out there before her interested hundreds of listeners and mixed delicious cake as she talked and advised. It just seemed to be a part of the instruction, and it was the sort of

McKeesport Rum Combine Smashed

14 GUILTY IN BOOTLEG RING

Charles Friedman, of Versailles, reputed leader of a bootleg whisky ring operating in the McKeesport district, and 13 other men residing in that section, were found guilty in the Federal District Court Wednesday afternoon of conspiring to violate the national prohibition law. Mrs. Emma Greenwalt, the only woman left in the case when placed in the hands of jury, was acquitted. The trial which started November 1 was heard before Judge F. P. Schoonmaker.

Those convicted with Friedman were Harry Markowitz, Harry Moscowitz, also known as Harry Moss; David Klein, known as "Big Dave;" Frank Stephanik, Jake Guttman, Andy Leahocky, Morris Shamowitz, Sam Piccona, Glenn J. Barrows, Louis Klein, John Pyecher, Sr.; John Pyecher, Jr., and Harry Campbell. The jury in its verdict recommended mercy of the court in the case of the latter two defendants.

The indictment charging the existence of a conspiracy, which was returned by the Federal grand jury at the September term of court, named 29 defendants. During the course of the trial six defendants pleaded guilty and testified for the government. They were Lottie Moffard, Frank Moffard, Mike Benig, Paul Pavacs, Henry Lebowitz and Joseph Potocsnak. On motion of counsel for the defense the court directed the jury to find verdicts of not guilty as to four defendants, Mrs. Theresa, Adolph Bergstein, Morris Bergstein, Nathan Fridman because the government failed to establish sufficient evidence to make a case against them. Four others not apprehended were David Klein, known as "Little Dave;" Ben Singer, Paul Gaulska and Hector Shackelton. "Little Dave and Singer were reported to have fled to Europe and the whereabouts of the other two are unknown to the Federal authorities.

$123,000 Sox Star Jailed

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 10.—(AP.)—Chalmer Cissell, riding from the Army toward the big leagues at a speed with few precedents in diamond records, faced a criminal court detour today.

A felony indictment based on the story of a 20-year-old telephone operator in a Des Moines, Ia., suburb led to his arrest at his home here last night. He was released in $2,500 bond.

Last year Cissel was a soldier at Fort Des Moines. He stepped from khaki to the uniform of a Des Moines Western League ballplayer. His brilliance at shortstop caught the eye of scouts, and he was sold to Portland, of the Pacific Coast League, for $10,000 and several players.

Almost at the same time last week that the Chicago White Sox announced they had purchased Cissell from Portland for $123,000, a Des Moines grand jury returned an indictment against him, charging seduction.

The indictment was based on the telephone operator's story that Cissell had not kept promise to marry her. She declared she met Cissell last New Year's eve and that they saw much of each other until the time he left for the spring training camp of the Portland team. She purchased a trousseau on the strength of his promise to make her his wife, she said, and waited for him to join her in Des Moines at the end of the baseball season. When he failed to arrive, she complained to prosecuting officers.

GIRL BECOMES MOTHER

DES MOINES, Ia., Nov. 10.—(AP.)—Chalmer Cissell will be brought to Des Moines, if possible, to face the charge of seduction brought by Miss Bernice Ryner, 20-year-old Valley Junction telephone operator, Sheriff Park Findley said today.

The sheriff said he expected to send deputies to St. Louis today.

Miss Ryner gave birth to a boy several weeks ago.

LEAGUE'S POLICIES CHANGE

Affairs of the Citizens League of Pittsburgh and Allegheny County were withdrawn from public observation today as William J. Kane, newly elected director, locked up his desk in the police Missing Persons Bureau, turned over his keys to Police Supt. Peter P. Walsh and took a seat at the desk formerly occupied by William L. King in the league's headquarters, 421 Wood street.

King, in the meantime, from his suite in the Penn-Lincoln Hotel, Wilkinsburg, had no comment to make on Kane's conference with Supt. Walsh and Safety Director James M. Clark Wednesday whereby it was agreed that the new regime and police officials co-operate in cleaning up vice alleged by King to have been rampant in the city and county with full police knowledge.

WALSH CASE UNCERTAIN

Whether the "co-operative" agreement will extend to the league's dropping its charges against Supt. Walsh could not be learned today.

Kane had nothing to say about it. He declared that he would leave "all the talking" to officials of the league.

King will stay in virtual retirement until November 18, a week from today, when he is scheduled to appear before the grand jury on numerous cases preferred by him last summer. Then, on December 5, he is to appear in federal court as a government witness against Jakie Klein, alleged gambler, indicted on a charge of tampering with a government witness.

King has turned over all evidence in his possession to Ralph H. Smith, league attorney, who has informed Kane that it is in "tip-top shape." "There is, therefore, no particular reason for King and me discussing the evidence," Kane said.

SHE GETS A QUARTER (MILLION) LOAF

FRIEDA HEMPEL

The operatic star sued August Heckscher, millionaire philanthropist, for a million dollars, but decided to be content with $250,000. She claimed he had agreed to pay her $48,000 a year for life under a contract involving only "friendly and honorable understandings."

OFFER CLEAN VOTE

ation, who are on guard to ferret out any evidence of fraud or manipulation, the returning board began its work at 1 o'clock today.

The appearance of Prichard created considerable stir, especially when it became apparent that the document he was reading to the court was an official pronouncement of Republican State Chairman W. L. Mellon and other leaders of the party here.

Saying that the leaders of the party do not approve or countenance unfair election practices, Mr. Prichard said that the dominance of the party in this county makes such practice unnecessary.

"While fraudulent and unfair practices seem to be indicated by facts which have been disclosed, it is quite apparent that such matters have crept in due to local fights and to overambitious individuals," he said. "Such conduct is not to be charged to the great Republican organization of Allegheny county or its leaders, who deprecate such condition as much as any other citizen of the county."

M. B. Lesher, announcing himself a representative of the County Commissioners, concurred in all Prichard said.

Belated returns today showed that, with only six districts out of 1,418 missing, the leading candidates for Commissioner polled:

Armstrong	141,779
Babcock	130,395
McGovern	70,590
Shields	59,648
Houlahen	36,778
Brennan	11,701

One of the things that will be revealed by the official count and which is awaited with interest by politicians is the name of the man who led the Republican ticket. John Francies, candidate for county treasurer; District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner and Prothonotary John Vogt are believed to have led the race for the highest number of votes.

Two representatives of the elections' association have been assigned to guard the returns, having been placed on duty by officials of the organization after a conference with Prothonotary Vogt. The official count is being supervised by Judges James B. Drew and Harry R. Rowand.

In a statement thanking those who aided him during the campaign, Controller C. C. McGovern, winner of the minority post on the board of commissioners, said, "I pledge myself to conduct the office in a way to win the approval of the men and women who want clean government and efficient administration of the county's business. I believe in a progressive and constructive program for Allegheny county. The county must keep pace with other communities in the matter of public improvement. At the same time, as I emphasized during the campaign, such improvement must be carried forward without waste, extravagance or graft."

Kidnaped; Dog Saves Him, 'n Everything

A Rin-Tin-Tin story, direct from life's stage, of a lad's kidnaping and rescue—after a thrilling chase—was told the police today by Jackson Jones, 10, son of George Jones, Saltsburg garage proprietor.

Jackson said he was on his way to school when a motorist first offered him a lift, which he refused, and then was forced into the car. The driver speeded up, but the lad said his ever faithful dog also went into high gear.

The automobile eventually got caught in a traffic snarl on the Saltsburg road, the distanced dog caught up, jumped on the running board luggage carrier and when the driver descended to fix a tire "near tore his leg off," the lad told police.

It was then, Jackson said, he escaped from the car with "Lindy," the ever faithful dog, following him.

A truck driver in Butler street, who gave his name as James McRoberts of Fifty-fourth street and Natrona way, picked the boy up and took him home. Motorcycle policemen, headed by Policeman Fromme, are searching for the mysterious abductor.

STILL ROUGH AND TOUGH

COL. WILLIAM PEARSON

Passing of the warlike Redskin couldn't pacify Colonel William Idaho Bill Pearson, one of the five surviving heroes of dime novel days. Col. Pearson, erstwhile Indian fighter, pony express rider and government scout, blew into Los Angeles with an 800-pound lion, which he had roped and captured alive. He has found this sport of catching ferocious animals with rope and well trained ponies a diversion satisfying even to the thrill-demand of a 70-odd-year-old youngster. Born on the Oregon trail and raised where the war cry of the Sioux lulled him to sleep, Idaho Bill was a comrade of Diamond Dick, Pawnee Bill, Deadwood Dick and Captain Lute North, frontiersmen of whom so much has been written that many regard them as characters of fiction.

LUNCHEONS AFTER PARADE

The two chief luncheons to follow the morning parade are for the city's guests, including Mrs. Wilson, at 1 o'clock in the William Penn Hotel, and the Nixon Cafe lunch of the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars, open to members of both organizations.

Last minute arrangements for the parade were announced today. Members of the C. M. T. C. and R. O. T. C. will march with the fifth division, which is made up of the active National Guard units and Ninety-ninth Reserve Division officers.

For the first time the third division of the Armistice Day parade, headed by Eightieth Division veterans, will not be led by its general, Lloyd M. Brett. He died September 24. In his place will go the new colors of Gen. Brett Post, Eightieth Division Veterans' Association, renamed in his honor. War veterans of the Philadelphia company will march in a group in the third division.

NEED MORE AUTOMOBILES

A dozen more automobiles are needed to carry men from the Veterans' Hospital at Aspinwall to the parade.

Frank T. Strayer, commander-in-chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, arrives this evening for tonight's banquet of all city and county posts at the Fort Pitt Hotel.

Tomorrow at Homestead Park and Homeville, captured German guns will be placed, and a tablet bearing names of World War soldiers will be unveiled at Lincoln Place.

FRIEDA HEMPHILL SETTLES FOR $250,000

By LOUIS W. FERR.

(Copyright, 1927, by N. Y. American, Inc.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—August Heckscher, philanthropist and public benefactor, has settled for $250,000 the million-dollar suit brought against him by Frieda Hempel, operatic soprano. Together with the cash settlement, Heckscher was offered to apologize for scathing remarks made by his attorneys concerning Miss Hempel.

This settlement, as revealed last night by an authoritative source, is agreed to by Miss Hempel, who is now abroad. She is represented as on her way to the United States to sign formal papers. This, it was added, will bring to a close an episode unpleasant to Heckscher, whose many kindly deeds and munificent gifts have endeared him to the American public.

CHARGED BREACH

The suit brought by Miss Hempel was based on alleged breach of contract. In that contract, the existence of which has been denied by Heckscher, Miss Hempel represented Heckscher was to have paid her $48,000 a year for life. At the time of the filing of the action, some months ago, Miss Hempel was careful to point out that the supposed contract involved purely friendly and honorable understandings.

The settlement now agreed upon disposes of a recent report that the seventy-eight-year-old philanthropist and real estate magnate had planned to resume friendly relations. This report was circulated at the time of the marriage of Heckscher's son, G. Maurice Heckscher, to Miss Luella Gear, musical comedy actress.

WILLING TO APOLOGIZE

In regard to the apology which Heckscher is said to be "more than willing to make to vindicate Miss Hempel from any undue criticism," it is added that he was in no wise responsible for the remarks made by his attorneys. Those remarks questioned the motives of the opera singer in bringing suit for such a huge sum.

As soon as Miss Hempel approved terms of the settlement, her attorneys asked that she return to the United States at once. Her engagements abroad, however, were such that she was unable to book passage before November 16. She will arrive here November 23 on the White Star liner Majestic. It was on that ship that Heckscher returned to this country from Europe last June 21.

The hour was approaching for the special train to depart for Louisville and points west, and when the directors became fidgety, the whole matter was entrusted to a special committee. This committee was not appointed, however.

a violation of the criminal code against efforts to influence the verdict of a jury. He demanded an immediate hearing to which Burkinshaw objected.

Clark was taken directly from the grand jury room to the office of United States Commissioner Turnage, where a complaint, similar to the one previously lodged against Harry F. Sinclair and another of his confidential agents, Henry Mason Day, was made by Neil Burkinshaw, assistant district attorney in charge of the inquiry.

Clark, vice president and general manager of the Sinclair Refining Company, was released on $25,000 bond, the same as required of Day. His hearing will await action of the grand jury, which is expected to conclude its investigation next week.

Like Day, Clark declined to answer questions before the grand jury on advice of counsel. Specifically the grand jurors inquired whether he had made contact between the Burns detectives trailing the oil jurors and Sinclair.

Clark was first called in the investigation yesterday but declined to testify then on the ground of a fear of self-incrimination and was recalled today so that a record might be had of the proceedings for any future use which the government might be able to make of it.

Clark was here during a part of the time before the mistrial was ordered in the Sinclair-Fall case and is accused of having received reports from the Burns detectives. When the trial was abruptly halted he returned to Chicago.

For several days before his departure, government agents kept close watch upon his quarters at the Willard Hotel and also upon his mail box there. In disclosing this, District Attorney Gordon said surveillance was relaxed for an hour or so and the mail in Clark's box was called for during that time.

NURSE HEAD HURT BY HIT-RUN DRIVER

SUSPECT HELD BY POLICE

Run down by an automobile when she stepped from a street car in front of the Eye and Ear Hospital, in Fifth avenue at Jumonville street, early this morning, Miss Jessie Davidson, 45, superintendent of nurses at the hospital, was seriously injured. The machine sped off after the accident, leaving its victim unconscious in the street.

A witness who gave chase in another automobile told police that the car had been wrecked in Kennett square, Oakland, and its occupants four Negroes, had escaped. A short time after police arrested a man as the driver of the machine.

Miss Davidson was carried into the hospital by Albert Miller, of 2705 Salisbury street. She is thought to have suffered internal injuries and her condition is serious. Thomas Owens, of 2945 Wyandotte street, who, with Miller, witnessed the accident, chased the "hit-and-run" machine to Kennett square, where he saw the four Negroes escape. He told police of the wreck.

Richard Davis, a Negro, of 5661 Munhall road, was arrested in the Oakland Police Station a short time later when he inquired about the wreck in Kennett square. Police say he owns the automobile. He is being held for investigation.

Joseph A. Hastings, 28, of 6925 Brighton road, driver of a truck owned by the Beckert Seed Company, was killed, and his helper, Raymond Jones, 27, of 911 Madison avenue, was injured yesterday afternoon.

Their truck crashed head-on into an outbound Butler Short Line street car in front of 1406 East Ohio street.

The crash occurred, according to witnesses, when Hastings turned his truck into the east tracks to avoid a traffic jam. Both men were hurled through the windshield. Jones is in the Presbyterian Hospital suffering from concussion of the brain and cuts and bruises.

Justice Edmundson reserved decision in the case after six non-union miners testified that almost daily Constable Smith would appear at the Coverdale stop of the Pittsburgh Railways Company and while striking union miners looked on would search non-union men. One of them testified he was warned to stop carrying a rifle used in his work at the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Company mine. Investigators found a quantity of dynamite under a bridge of the third-rail electric line of the Laurel Railway in South Pittston. The railway runs between Wilkes-Barre and Scranton.

A mink coat valued at $400 was among the loot stolen from the home of Mrs. Rose Sherdian at 2014 Fifth avenue by a sneak thief, who entered the house through the kitchen window some time early today. Two chests of silver valued at $50 each and $2 in cash also were stolen. Mrs. Sherdian was awakened by a noise in the kitchen, and upon investing discovered her loss.

Arrested in the rear of the M. M. Werrie clothing store at 3629 Butler street early today, James Thomas, 29, of 1644 Penn avenue rear, and Robert Fraction, 33, of 187 Spring way, Negroes, were arrested on suspicious person charges. After Patrolman Joseph Burnick had taken them to the Penn Avenue Police Station he found $250 worth of clothing in the alley where he had arrested the men. The pair then admitted the theft, police say.

When a burglar alarm in the supply store of the W. E. Wimler Company at 709 Second avenue was set off early today, Stanley Thomas, 20, of 809 Carson street, was arrested while looting the building, according to operatives of a private detective agency who answered the alarm. He was taken to Central Police Station on a charge of being a suspicious person. His captors say that he had a quantity of lead in his possession at the time of the arrest.

COOK SCHOOL GIVES ADVICE

e talk that will be remembered by many mothers, as well as those who have no children.

LISTS QUALIFICATIONS

This is Mrs. Thurn's list of qualifications which a mother should try to instill into her child:

"Independence, dependence, ambition, obedience, humane qualities, industriousness, fair-mindedness, honesty, truthfulness and thrift."

After giving her list Mrs. Thurn smiled:

"I did not put religion down on my list, because any mother who is able to instill those qualities in a child has real religion."

She pleaded for an understanding of a child's needs, not only of the body but of the soul and the mind, and urged upon mothers the importance of toleration and patience.

Questions popped from all over the hall while Mrs. Thurn cooked, showing the really keen interest the women are taking in learning how to cook a little more scientifically.

Mrs. Thurn was introduced by Miss Irene E. McDermott, director of household economy of Pittsburgh schools. Several young girls filed in and went into the balcony. Later Miss McDermott declared.

"It is amazing to me the interest girls are taking in cooking and housekeeping. In our city schools they are bubbling over with interest. Many have clever and original ideas of their own that show how they have been studying.

FLAPPERS WALTZ WITH STOVE

"And the strange part is it seems to be the girls from the wealthier families who are most anxious to learn and who take a keener interest. The girls from the poorer families are sometimes rather lax in interest."

She explained:

"Perhaps this is due to the fact that the girls in the poorer families have to help around the kitchens and get a little tired of it. But, I am very much pleased that so many are going in for domestic science."

So—maybe the much maligned flapper has a bit of horse sense up her sleeve after all. Perhaps she is getting ready to be a real wife and mother.

This afternoon from 2 to 4, and this evening from 7:30 is the last chance to get in on the cooking school. Many of the housewives are expressing regret that it is not to last a week.

The children in the Soho Day Nursery branch, established during the school, are so good they have been promised that Santa shall hear all about it.

WAITRESS, WED AT 15, ASKS DIVORCE

Locked in a cupboard because she wanted to go out and her life threatened, were some of the things meted out to her by her husband, George Seffelis, it was testified by Mrs. Mary Seffelis, who wants a divorce.

Mrs. Seffelis, a waitress in Homestead, told Judge Thomas J. Ford in Common Pleas Court that she had known her husband only one or two days when they eloped to Wellsburg, W. Va., and were married. She wed at 15 in 1922 and still is under age. She could not produce her marriage certificate, her husband having burned it, she testified.

Mrs. Pearl Douglas Rush, who married John W. Rush, miner, in 1921, and is the mother of three children, told Judge Ford she had kept boarders to help keep the home together. Her husband took her earnings, bought an automobile and left, she said. She has been working in Mercy Hospital to help support the youngsters.

David Rosenfield has filed a libel in divorce in Common Pleas Court against Jessie F. Rosenfield.

G. O. P. CONSIDER CHICAGO FOR CONVENTION

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Representative Martin B. Madden, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, assured Mayor Thompson at lunch here yesterday that he will help him in his effort to have Chicago selected as the site for the Republican national convention this year.

The Mayor told him the south end of the lake front stadium could be covered with a canopy and that it would thus accommodate a larger throng than any other hall in the country.

"Send me blue prints of the stadium layout and I will get busy at once," Madden told him.

The Republican national committee meets here next month to consider the mayor's and bids from other cities, including Detroit, Cleveland, San Francisco, Minneapolis and Kansas City.

WOMAN PLANS PACIFIC HOP

By Universal Service.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—A woman flyer, Miss Ruby Thompson of Dallas, Tex., is planning to compete for the $50,000 prize offered by Col. William E. Easterwood, wealthy Dallas real estate operator, for the first flight from Dallas to Hong Kong, China.

Simultaneously with this announcement yesterday, Col. Easterwood, who is in New York, said he would try to induce Mrs. Frances Grayson to abandon her trans-Atlantic flight ambition and attempt to conquer the Pacific.

Three requirements are made for the contestants. Three stops are allowed, one at San Francisco, one at Honolulu and one at Tokio. The winning pilot must fly a plane not provided by the Colonel, and must register in advance with the National Aeronautic Association at Washington.

When your Child has Croup

RUBBED on throat and chest, the effect of Vicks in relieving spasmodic croup is two fold:

(1) Its medicated vapors, released by body heat, reach air passages direct;

(2) At the same time it stimulates the skin, thus helping the inhaled vapors ease the difficult breathing.

DRINK HOT TEA FOR A BAD COLD

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of this hamburg tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacupful at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and relieve grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once.

It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.

Child-birth

No longer dreaded by thousands of women

Doctor's Discovery Successful

AN eminent physician has shown to thousands of expectant mothers just how to be free from much suffering during expectancy and at childbirth.

Dr. Holmes' discovery, "Mother's Friend," relieves the tension on muscles and tissues as month follows month. Finally, it makes child-birth a joy!

Three generations of mothers have praised Mother's Friend. Mrs. Laura Hendrix, Gracemont, Okla., writes: "I used Mother's Friend with all my babies and I think it is the grandest help that has ever been discovered for expectant mothers."

Start using Mother's Friend tonight—the sooner the better, and write for free booklet on "Things to Know Before Baby Comes" (sent in plain envelope). Mother's Friend is sold by all drug stores.

HOMESTEAD POLICE CAPTAIN, HURT AT FIRE, DIES

Injured By Nozzle, Officer Succumbs

Victim of his own too-keen sense of duty, Capt. Patrick Mullen, of the Homestead police force, died today at 308 West street, Homestead.

Mullen went to the aid of borough firemen on the night of November 1, was struck by a hose nozzle knocked to the street and drenched. He caught a severe cold which developed into pneumonia, the cause of his death.

As the police head lay dead today his mother, Mrs. Mary Mullen, 80, critically ill in an adjoining room, was not told of her son's death for fear the news would result fatally. Mullen, single, made his home with his mother, and the two were deeply attached.

Mullen, who was 39, had been on the Homestead police force 14 years. Formerly he was lifeguard at the borough swimming pool and a well known ball player.

NEW POSTOFFICE HERE ASSURED

Congressman Guy E. Campbell says that Pittsburgh's new postoffice is virtually assured.

"The deficiency bill will be among the first to pass after Congress opens December 5," said Congressman Campbell today, having come home early in the week to vote.

The bill, which has held up the appropriation for the Pittsburgh postoffice and other department funds, went by the wayside with other legislation during the closing session of Congress earlier in the year. It is stated that many officials in Washington, as well as in all parts of the country, have had to borrow money, because of the failure of the bill to pass.

STRONG MAN TO TEST JAIL IRON

Police today were describing Stanley Thomas, 30, as the strongest thief under the big top.

Stanley, so the law charged, was on the point of departing from the Wimmer Scrap Iron Company plant at 750 Second avenue early today with several hundred pounds of lead on his person when he was arrested, apprehended and so forth. In Central Police Court Magistrate George H. England invited him to examine the iron in the county workhouse for 90 days.

Do You, Too, Have "Bad Luck" During Winter Months?

One of the chief reasons folks have difficulty keeping their ferns, begonias, geraniums and other potted plants healthy and green during winter months is because their plants are too weak to withstand the hot, dry furnace heat during the day and the cold, chilly atmosphere at night.

Thousands of folks are now feeding their plants one Plantabb each week—with the result that they grown wonderfully well even in winter. These little tablets, though odorless and inexpensive, are very powerful, and never fail to improve ferns, begonias, geraniums and other potted plants.

Valuable Book FREE!

A 32-page book, profusely illustrated and containing a wealth of valuable information, has just been prepared for users of Plantabbs. In it, Mr. F. F. Rockwell, nationally famous authority, tells how to keep your potted plants and flowers from withering and turning brown in winter, how and when to water, when to repot, how to take cuttings, how to fertilize, what to do when insect pests attack, and a hundred-and-one other helpful hints.

You can get this remarkable new book by purchasing from your florist, druggist or seed dealer, one 50c package or two 25c packages of Plantabbs. When you reach home, empty the tablets into another container and mail the empty carton to us. Mr. Rockwell's book will be sent to you immediately without any cost to you whatever. DOWNWARD REVISION OF NUISANCE TAX IS URGED

Levy Ruins Road Shows, Committee Told

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—(AP.)—Repeal or downward revision of the excise or nuisance taxes, including such things as levies on theater admissions, cigars and the like, was asked at the House Ways and Means Committee tax hearings.

Ligon Johnson, of New York, representing the National Theatrical Association, declared the 10 per cent tax on theater tickets selling for more than 75 cents was a direct burden to the spoken drama.

"Since that tax was imposed," he said, "the number of shows on the road has decreased by one-third. The cost of the spoken drama has so increased that the tax cannot be absorbed and has to be passed on to patrons."

'ONE TOO MANY,' HAS TO WALK

Her husband made her walk home because she had taken too many highballs at a party, Mrs. Marie Masterson, 26, Neville street, told Magistrate E. M. Hough in Morals Court this morning.

She was wandering in Bayard street when arrested charged with drunkenness. The magistrate discharged her with the customary "word to the wise" as sufficient punishment.

Frank Gillmore, also of New York, said that each year fewer road shows left New York, in asking for repeal of the admission tax as one means of aiding the theatrical profession.

Gillmore, who said he spoke for the Actors Equity Association and Chorus Equity Association, cited, as an example of the theater slump, that as a young actor he played every night for six weeks in Texas, but he did not believe there was now a "legitimate" play in the state.

Actors of today do not receive high salaries, he continued, and he doubted if half of them paid an income tax. The average working year of an actor in New York, he said, now is only 22 weeks.

"Electric Power!— A Consumer-Owned Industry"

Says Haley Fiske
President of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company

"There can be no doubt that light and power distribution is a most important element in our life, in the community, in the neighborhood, in the household. The ownership of the electric light and power companies is now in the hands of more than 2,000,000 direct investors in public utility stocks, and indirectly, in the hands of millions more of bank depositors and holders of life insurance policies through their ownership of public utility bonds. This is people's ownership under public regulation."✦

SINCE Mr. Fiske's statement was made, the number of investors in electric power companies has grown to over three million. It is estimated that during 1926, nearly four hundred thousand customers bought over three million shares in the electric power companies serving them. All told, over thirteen and a half million shares of stock have been purchased by the customers of these companies. These owners are found in every walk of life. Two companies alone report nearly fourteen thousand customer stockholders representing 269 separate occupations.

The movement toward customer ownership of industry finds its largest expression in the electric power companies because of the high sense of responsibility developed by these companies in their dealings with the public.

Operated under the American principle of individual initiative, and directed by a personnel of tested integrity and public-mindedness, these companies have so definitely identified themselves with the interest of the public, that the structure of America's prosperity and progress rests to a large degree upon their service.

America's unequalled level of comfort and prosperity, made possible through cheap, abundant power, developed under the American principle of individual initiative, is the best of reasons why that principle should be preserved and perpetuated.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Sewickley Takes Center of Social Stage With Betrothal and Presentation of Debutante

AN INTERESTING engagement, involving a member of one of our oldest families here, has been made known today with the news that Katherine Deming Clapp, daughter of the George Hubbard Clapps, of Woodland road, Edgeworth, is soon to marry William Ayres Galbraith, of Sewickley. The Clapps have lived in Sewickley for many years, but the family was originally from the East End. Mr. Clapp being a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Dewitt C. Clapp, who made their home in Amberson avenue. On her mother's side, Katherine is a granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Marion Love, of Sewickley, Mrs. Clapp's maiden name having been Anne Wardrop Love.

Mr. Galbraith has lived in the Valley only a few years, and is, of course, a comparative newcomer there. Both he and his fiancee are members of the Allegheny Country Club.

Katherine, in addition to her social duties, both in the Valley and in Pittsburgh, has always taken a prominent part in the various charitable and social service activities that claim the attention of most of our society girls.

Another Sewickley girl takes her place in the social limelight today when Marie Boggs McBride is presented at a tea given in the Edgeworth Club by her mother, Mrs. William McBride, of Grant street, Sewickley. Mrs. McBride and the debutante are receiving together in the living room of the club, which has been decorated with the many bouquets sent to the bud. Marie, who is of a most distinctive type of beauty, is wearing a severely fashioned frock of hydrangea club chiffon velvet, with a small hat to correspond, and she is carrying a pendant bouquet of orchids and golden wedding roses tied with silver ribbon. Mrs. McBride's gown is of amber satin, and her hat is of velvet in a deeper shade of amber. Her flowers are yellow and bronze chrysanthemums.

Tea is served in the club's two dining rooms, Mrs. McBride having as her aides Mrs. Frank W. Jarvis, Mrs. Robert Wray, Mrs. Elizabeth N. Jennings, Mrs. J. Keese Hallock, Mrs. Harry S. Tack, Mrs. Margaret M. Morgan, Mrs. Chauncey O'Neil, Mrs. Harris R. Potter, Mrs. W. Leland Ingham, Mrs. William T. Kilborn, Mrs. William Booth, Mrs. Russell R. Huggins, Mrs. Edgar Balsinger and Mrs. C. A. Verner.

Assisting Marie are Suzanne Trimble, Emsie McKennan Smith, Elizabeth George, Margaret McCready, Harriet Ramsburg, Mary McMahon, Betty Wray, Mary McC. Woods and Virginia Goldsbury.

Tomorrow afternoon will see the third debut party of the week, with a fourth scheduled for Saturday afternoon. Virginia Louise Johnston, who is a Spence School girl, is tomorrow's debutante, and will be presented at a tea in the Longue Vue Country Club given by her mother, Mrs. Charles Howard Johnston of Beechwood boulevard. Mrs. Johnston has asked a large group of women to be her aides, including Mrs. Albert Horne Burchfield, Mrs. Dwight Coble, Mrs. George Harwood, Mrs. Lewis Wenman Hicks, Mrs. John Parker Knable, Mrs. Carl L. Peirce, Mrs. George N. Monro, Mrs. Harry H. Patterson, Mrs. Harris Ewalt Wainwright, Mrs. Edwin Reed Crick, Mrs. David A. Fitcairn, Mrs. Harvey C. King, Mrs. George M. Rowland, Mrs. Edward Stieren, Mrs. James Duncan Munroe, Mrs. Clarence William Close, Mrs. James H. Horner, Mrs. James Patterson, Mrs. Charles B. Lappe and Mrs. Curtis M. Yohe.

Virginia is to be assisted by Juliet Lea Hillman, Florence Carroll, Suzanne Trimble, Florence Wainwright, Margaret Brainard, Janet McKinney and Mary Currier Lewis, all this season's debutantes; Elinor Munroe, who came out last winter, and Elizabeth McCullough, whose debut has been postponed from this winter until next.

Marjorie Babcock seems to be one of our most popular "debbies" this season, judging from the number of parties being planned for her. The latest affair announced is a theater party to be given November 21 by Mrs. James H. Hammond of the Hotel Schenley. There will be about 100 guests, and after the theater a dance will be held in the Hotel Schenley. Mrs. Hammond has asked 200 additional guests for the dancing.

All sorts of interesting things are being planned to enliven the annual Women's Industrial Exchange sale which will be held November 21 in the marquee erected for the Mellon-Scaife wedding at the home of the Richard Beatty Mellons in Fifth avenue, and the women in charge are working overtime to make this sale just a little different from any of its predecessors. Mrs. Dorwin Donnelly is arranging a dance for the evening, and in the afternoon there will be both a card party and a children's party. The youngsters are to be entertained with a Punch and Judy show and a number of other amusements, with Mrs. William L. Jones in charge. Mrs. Birney K. McMechen is to be in charge of the card party, and the sale, itself, is under the direction of the board of managers, of which Mrs. William C. Robinson is chairman.

Miss Rosemary Hanlon, president of the Pittsburgh Chapter of Trinity College Alumnae, has appointed the following committees for the dinner dance to be held December 29 at Hotel Schenley for the benefit of the building and endowment fund: Invitations, Miss Florence Feeney, Miss Mary Briley Mac Martha Hanlon; patronesses, Mrs. Simon R. Rudolph, chairman; Miss Catherine Hartman, Mrs. Paul Eichenlaub, Mrs. Herbert Mansmann, Miss Jeanette DuFresne and Mrs. Hudson Volts; arrangements, Mrs. M. J. Shortley, Miss Anne Marie Ryan, Miss Dorothy May and Miss Mildred Kaveny; music, Miss Agnes Hartman, chairman; Miss Lucilla Behan, and Miss Dorothy Walsh; publicity, Miss Loretto Lawler and Miss Inez O'Donnell.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Myers, of Beaver Falls, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Marian Myers, to John Earl Rigby, son of Mrs. George A. Rigby, of New Castle.

Economy in Cooking

FOR over 35 years the Rieck-McJunkin Dairy Company has been serving Pittsburgh homes; serving them with dairy products, the high standard and quality of which are prerequisites with so large an institution. None better can be procured any place.

Now here is where economy comes in. Most foods have only a certain percentage of those food values so necessary to the balanced diet, whereas milk has all of them—the vitamins, the fats and the carbohydrates—all the elements needed for proper development and good health. This fact, coupled with its low price, should give milk an important place in the food budget of any home.

Use milk in cooking. There are a thousand and one ways—in delicious creamed soups and scallops; for gravies, for baking and all kinds of desserts; for satisfying hot drinks. These are only a few of the many ways this healthful food can be utilized, however. There are others too numerous to mention.

WOULD DIVORCE CANADIAN

Tears were shed when Mrs. Daisy Weinfeld of 6469 Monitor street told Judge Thomas J. Ford her marriage troubles and her reasons for suing her husband, Louis Weinfeld of Montreal, Canada, for divorce.

"He humiliated me in public by saying, 'Look at the piece of dirt I married,' threw a galvanized bucket at me, injuring me; wanted me to take poison and threatened to shoot me, and when he did that, I decided to leave him," is the way Mrs. Weinfeld expressed it.

Judge Ford said he did not know whether a divorce in the United States holds in Canada, but Judge-elect Elder Marshall, counsel for Mrs. Weinfeld, says her client is not going back, for she has been living in Pittsburgh for two years and supporting her daughter, aged 13.

FIRST NEW FORDS ON WAY TO ENGLAND

TWO CARLOADS SHIPPED ABROAD

By Universal Service.

WINDSOR, Ont., Nov. 10.—The first shipment of new Ford cars passed through here yesterday en route from Detroit to Boston. It is understood that the new cars will be shipped from Boston to England and placed on exhibition in the old country immediately following their arrival.

Although the train comprised 40 loaded cars, only two of these carried the new Fords. A special run was made with one stop at Chatham, Ont., for water.

The shipments are understood to be among the first taken from the assembly line of the Ford plants in Detroit and Fordson.

It is said that definite announcement of the new model will be made to synchronize with the arrival of these cars in England.

"HELLO, FRISCO" FOR $8

A reduction in Bell System long distance telephone rates between points separated by 200 miles or more will be put into effect on December 1, according to an announcement by William Bradford of the Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania. The reduced charges chiefly affect day-time rates, with the greater distances enjoying the greatest reductions, and will result in an estimated saving of about $1,200,000 to long distance users.

Under the proposed schedule, the station-to-station day rate from Pittsburgh to Salt Lake City is cut from $7.50 to $6.25; to San Francisco, from $10 to $8, and to Miami, from $6 to $4.

Mr. Francis O'Brien Tells How Cuticura Healed Pimples

"I first noticed blackheads on my face. I tried to check them but they grew worse and changed to pimples. The pimples were scattered all over my face, and at first were small and red. Later they festered and the constant itching and burning were very annoying. My face was very red, and at night I could not sleep on account of the irritation.

"A friend advised Cuticura Soap and Ointment so I sent for a free sample. After using it I noticed amazing results. I purchased more and after using Cuticura Soap and Ointment for six weeks I was completely healed." (Signed) Francis O'Brien, 2334 E. Harold St., Phila., Pa., Feb. 16, 1927.

Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Talcum are all you need for all toilet uses. Soap to cleanse, Ointment to soothe, Talcum to powder.

Thanksgiving Turkeys Rare—and Costly

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—(AP.)—Thanksgiving turkeys are rare birds this year.

The turkey crop is about 5 per cent smaller than in 1926, the United States division of crop and livestock estimates reported today.

All states east of the Rocky Mountains except Texas show a smaller production than last year, with the largest decrease in the states east of the Mississippi River. A cold, late spring with excessive rains was blamed.

Texas, the largest producer of turkeys, this year has a crop 12 per cent larger than 1926. Idaho, Utah and California also show slight increases.

REFUSED DRINK, SLASHES MAN

Refusing a stranger a drink of liquor, George Danna, 19, 1424 Walnut street, McKeesport, was stabbed below the heart at 12:30 o'clock this morning and is in a serious condition in McKeesport Hospital. Danna and several companions were drinking at Fourth avenue and Mulberry street, McKeesport, when the stranger appeared and demanded a drink. After the cutting Danna's assailant escaped.

HIJACKERS SEARCH AUTOMOBILE

Fail to Rob Driver In Holdup

Believed to have been mistaken for a "whisky runner" by "hijackers" early this morning, Charles Sylvester, 30, of 7518 Kelly street, was forced from his automobile in Center avenue, near University drive, by four armed men who searched his automobile. Althought he had money and several articles of jewelry on his person, no attempt was made to rob him, Sylvester told police.

Sylvester was driving his automobile in Center avenue when he noticed another machine following him. When he reached University drive, the other car was driven in front of his machine and he was compelled to stop. Four men, all armed with revolvers ordered him from the car and while he stood on the pavement, his machine was searched.

The interior of the automobile was ransacked, the seat cushions dragged to the street, the tool cases opened and every possible place where bottles might have been hidden, was investigated. After their search the men climbed back into their car and drove away.

VIEWERS NAMED FOR MEADOWCROFT WORK

Judge Thomas J. Ford has appointed E. Z. Smith, W. M. McJunkin and F. S. Haller viewers to assess damages and benefits by reason of the construction of a sewer in Meadowcroft avenue and extending to Willow terrace and Iroquois boulevard. Judge Ford also appointed C. W. Beamer, R. M. Ropp and S. A. Merkel to view Babcock boulevard, but the petition was discontinued.

A GRIPPING STORY OF MARGIE-WHO TRIED TO TRICK LOVE

By Gilbert Rogers

Jerry, Margie, Mabel Meet And Margie Discovers She Has a Rival

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Margie Marsh comes to New York with a thousand dollars and a wonderful education. She keeps house with four other girls, learns stenography and decides after three years to marry. She fails to find her ideal, and Dan Shevlin, a shrewd man of the world, offers to introduce her into smart society through a Mrs. Brooke, provided Margie will give him some security. This security consists of a note which he dictates and Margie recklessly signs, to the effect that she loves him and will never regret the six months she has spent with him. Through Mrs. Brooke she buys wonderful clothes, which Shevlin pays for. Mrs. Brooke opens her cottage in Newport, and Margie meets her brother, Mark Trelaw, a cripple. She scores a success with the rich. She confesses to Jerry that she is as poor as he. Under unusual circumstances she meets Martin. She learns that he knows Jerry and goes to his house to ask him to do what he can to help Jerry along. Jerry calls to see Martin, and Margie hides. Jerry sees her and suspects the worst. As he is getting on a train to leave Newport Margie rushes after him. Later she leaves the train with Jerry still doubtful. She is very unhappy. Jerry's aunt gives her a lift back to town. Unsuspectingly she gives Shevlin information about Martin which the former seems to regard as very valuable. Margie discovers how Shevlin makes his money and decides to come to a showdown with him. She pleads in vain for her letters. Shevlin seizes her and kisses her. Mrs. Brooke sees them. She accuses Margie of making love to him. Margie wonders how she can keep Shevlin from showing the letter to Jerry. She tries to find out Jerry's address from his aunt. Jerry comes back, asks her to marry him and go to South America. Adrian Martin drives up with Mrs. Brooke.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

MARGIE felt acutely uncomfortable—like an uninvited guest. She made the resolve to hurry Jerry all she could. Perhaps even tomorrow things would be settled, finished. One more day—she could stay that long. But she couldn't have stayed a single instant if she hadn't guessed that underneath it all Carlotta still liked her. Underneath her silences and sullenness there was no real rancor. One more day, just one more day—she could go through that, uncomfortable as it made her feel. "Staying where I'm not wanted," thought Margie. "How can I possibly be doing anything like that? But I'm here—I've got to."

The phone, and Jerry on it.

I'm going to take a couple of hours out tomorrow, because of course we've got to see each other. We might swim. I'll pick you up—after lunch. Yes. Tomorrow night I've got to go to Providence. Oh, no, I'll be back the next day. . . . Ye'es, I think by the next day. Do you still love me? . . . What's that? I don't care if people can hear you. I want everybody to hear you! Do you still love me?"

"How could I love anyone so silly."

"I don't know!"

"But I do."

"Ah!"

So then it was just a matter of getting through the night and the next morning. Night was nice, because you'd lie in bed and think and dream and remember times and little funny gestures and all the things that had been said and what they meant.

At 2 o'clock in the afternoon, Jerry rattled up in the old Ford.

It made such a violent banging and clattering that Jerry shook his head.

"Seems like this poor old thing was trying to sing its swan song. . . . Look at me and tell me you love me."

She looked at him and told him, though she did not speak.

Half way to the beach, he suddenly swung the car around.

"Forgot my bathing suit," he explained. "Won't take a second." And turning in at the Farrington driveway, they came upon Mabel, his cousin, a pair of garden shears in one hand and some flowers in the other.

She smiled, but she looked a little pale, Margie thought. While Jerry ran inside to get his bathing things, Mabel stood close to the car, chatting, about nothing. She had grave, sweet manners. Margie felt drawn to her. She membered what she had seen. But there was nothing to be read in Mabel's face. Perhaps she had been mistaken in thinking that Mabel was in love with her cousin.

Then all at once, for no reason at all, the girl's mouth dropped and she looked unutterably miserable. The flowers fell from her hand in a little spray.

She bent down to pick them up. Her shoulders were shaking. When she lifted her head, she could not meet Margie's eyes. Then she faltered:

"I—I want to hate you, but I can't. I can't!"

Margie thought of Carlotta Brooke who had not found it difficult to hate her, but Carlotta Brooke and this girl were two very different people.

She felt unfair, unkind, and deeply sympathetic. "I'm sorry," was all Margie could say. "I'm awfully sorry."

Mabel turned her head away quickly as Jerry came down the steps. As the Ford rattled out through the gates, another car came gliding through. Margie recognized a sallow face, a mouth from which drooped a cigarette.

"It's Glenn!" Jerry muttered. "That sap! And Mabel—will you believe me?—is crazy about him!"

Margie looked at him half ironically. Perhaps it was just as well for women that men were so blind. . . .

"Why are you silent? Anything the matter?" He looked anxiously at her.

"Not a thing. I was just thinking."

The water was clear and delicious, and they had the beach to themselves at that hour.

They splashed and swam and shouted, and Jerry splashed water at her until she was angry. And then became so humble and stricken that she wanted him to do it all over again.

"Watch me fetch! . . ." With a Zoom! he went in headfirst, with long powerful strokes, his arms looking like the bronze arms of statuary.

And afterwards they raced up the beach, and laughed together, and kissed each other under the shelter of a point of sand and grass.

"Oh, must I ever get old," Margie thought. "Can't this go on forever and forever—this feeling I could last out anything. Why it's like being a part of things, of the sea and the sky and everything."

Slowly the light began to fade, and out of the sea came dull crimson hues that stained the horizon. They went back to the bath-houses to dress. Margie felt wonderfully languid and yet strong. He took her in his arms again and kissed her in the shadowy corridor.

"Nothing can ever part us, can it?" he asked. He looked at her with the solemn worried gaze of a boy.

"Nothing," she said. Oh, nothing ever could, nothing . . .

And yet two hours later—after Jerry had left her at Mrs. Brooke's door, he rushed off for the Providence train—two hours later in the quiet house, the 'phone rang and Margie's happiness was gone like the golden day.

"Long distance . . . Hold the wire, please . . . Just a minute . . . Go ahead."

Then another voice, an unforgettable, harsh voice, Shevlin speaking!

CHAPTER XXX.

YES, it was Dan Shevlin on the wire, Dan Shevlin as cool and cynical as ever. Asking the impossible in a matter-of-fact voice.

"Hello . . . Margie? Got you first thing, eh? Carlotta, there? . . . No, I don't want to speak to her, I want to speak to you."

"About what?"

"Don't waste time, little one. This is a long distance call and you mustn't be extravagant. . . . Been thinking about you. Lots. Come down tonight. You can get the boat. And you'll be here tomorrow. You can come up to the apartment. You've made up your mind, of course?"

She wanted to click down the receiver, to cut him off, but somehow she hesitated.

"Do you think I would?" she managed to say. "Don't you think I meant what I said the other day?"

There was a long silence. Then far across that distance she heard his laugh.

"You'll find my address in the phone book. If I should happen to be out, just go in and make yourself comfortable. If I don't see you—I don't mean hear from you, I mean see you—by seven o'clock tomorrow evening, you can count as certain, there'll be a letter in the mail for Jerry Evesham. Now, don't be a fool, Margie. . . ."

Then she did cut him off violently, but not in disgust now—in a start of fear. He meant it—he really meant it! He would do this thing. He would send that letter. And she could never explain to Jerry, without explaining how she had come to write it, telling him that she had let Dan Shevlin buy her things, telling him she had come to Newport, a hard-boiled little fortune-hunter. Mercenary, scheming, unhesitating. Oh, it wouldn't be easy to explain a thing like that.

He loved her now, but—well, it might change his whole attitude toward her. Now he treated her as if she hadn't had one bad impulse all her life long. You didn't deserve that, but it was wonderful. But if you were found out, then—! Margie shivered again.

She got up and walked across the room, nervously, took out a book, opened it, shut it again.

She must stop Shevlin from doing this thing. But how? How? Then she saw she would have to go to see Him, have to make one final appeal. He meant what he said. She didn't know how she could move him, but there was nothing else to be done. She'd have to try. If she wanted to enough, perhaps she'd find a way.

She'd go, say goodby to Mark and Mrs. Brooke, drop Jerry a line, tell him to meet her in New York. And of course by that time she would have persuaded Shevlin . . . would she?

She flew upstairs, packed things wildly, phoned for a cab. Carlotta was not in the house. But she'd write—she'd try to tell her how sorry she was that things had happened as they had. Carlotta and Shevlin—Carlotta mustn't be hurt any more. . . .

In the lower hall, when her taxi had arrived, and she was on her way out, Carlotta came in unexpectedly.

She paused, looking at Margie with hard, critical eyes.

"Carlotta, I'm going away," Margie said timidly. "I'm terribly sorry about everything."

She looked into Mrs. Brooke's face, remembering her gayety, her changing moods, the happy moments they had had, the moments of earnest talk late at night when the older woman had seemed more like an affectionate sister than someone she had known for a handful of weeks. It seemed a shame not to part without some sign of making-up.

Almost, Margie thought, Carlotta meant to. Her lower lip quivered. Then as if bitter memories predominated, she controlled herself and threw a look of contempt and malice at Margie.

Without troubling to speak, she walked away. And Margie climbed into her cab with a heavy heart.

All that night in her stateroom on the boat, to the sound of the thrashing water, her thought hovered confusedly around Carlotta Brooke's undying enmity, around Jerry and all he meant, around Shevlin and how she could plead with him not to destroy her happiness forever.

Her fare paid, she had scarcely enough of her own money left to live a week in New York. But Jerry would be down—they would go away together. He would take care of her always now—if—if Dan Shevlin did not execute his threat.

He couldn't be bad enough to do that, no one could. He didn't realize how much in love she was, that was it. She'd tell him, convince him, and he would understand. Her dreams and hopes mingled with her fears. At last she slept, trying to believe that everything would be all right, everything.

In the morning she was less sure. The city lay sweltering in the summer heat. Flies buzzed before the doorways of the shops near the river. Margie, carrying her bags, walked to a subway.

No more cars now, no more luxuries. Her little game of pretending was all over, and Newport and the luxuries she had grown used to—they would soon be a memory. And to her own surprise, she was not sorry at all.

It was early. She had breakfast at the shining, white table of a dairy restaurant. It was almost good to be back here, good to be back among old and familiar things, in your own world, where you didn't need to pretend.

But it all depends on Dan Shevlin. If only she could make him change his mind. She must, that was all there was to it. She would.

However, there was no need of going up there now, seeing him now. She had until 7 o'clock for one thing. And then she might get some brilliant idea, just wandering around. An inspiration—the right way to talk to him, appeal to him.

She checked her bags, but wandering around wasn't much fun. It was like being homeless in a way, and there seemed no place to go. After everything was settled of course, and Shevlin had given in, she'd go up to the apartment and surprise the Graham sisters, and Florence Clark, and Ruth Irving.

But no one would be there now, and even if they were, she didn't feel like talking.

Later on she went to a movie, but her thoughts came between her and the picture. Then she killed time in the stores and the library, and at last, in desperation, looked up Dan Shevlin's address in the 'phone book, and setting her teeth, made her way up town.

To Be Continued Tomorrow.

Rogers Makes 'Clean Breast' of Election

SANTA FE, N. M., Nov. 10.—News of the day about Tuesday's elections: Smith carried New York through force of habit. Vare carried Philadelphia through something—it may not have been just habit alone. Cleveland, O., admitted they needed a mayor, and New Mexico, here, voted that if any man couldn't get it in two years in this state that there was no use giving him four. Kentucky decided it was all right for the state to have some of the money bet on horse races, that the profit should not all go to the bookmakers.

South Greensburg Man Spurns Count's Cash

GREENSBURG, Pa., Nov. 10.—If you had your choice of dusting off valves and packing fittings in a factory or owning a castle, a title and buckets of money in Italy, which would you choose?

But Alfred Evaldi, young adventurous Italian, is different. Alfred is a laborer. Daily he does odd jobs in the Walworth Company plant in South Greensburg, chasing from his mind that in Italy he would be waited upon rather than waiting, that fair maidens would hold him in awed respect, that lire would be as plentiful as wine.

Alfred recently became the sole heir of his father. And his father was Enrico Giansanti, the Count of Valetrie. When his father and mother became estranged Alfred, sent to an orphanage, sneaked away and came to America. He was 16 then.

For years the Count of Veletrie searched for his missing son. Then, by accident, and shortly before Count Veletrie died, there came a picture of his son.

In his will the Count gave all to Alfred—his home, his title and his wealth—provided Alfred returned to Italy to claim those honors.

The Italian government searched for the son. They found him—in South Greensburg. Come back, they told him, and claim your riches. Alfred dusted off more valves and packed more fittings.

"You are crazy, man," his friends told him. "You are a rich man. Your cellar will be full and your pockets will bulge. Say goodby to us and go. And send us a postcard of your castle."

Alfred is still dusting valves and packing fittings in a South Greensburg factory. He will, he says, stay in America.

Will the two gentlemen who left their suits of clothes at South Hill Tailoring Company, 209 Sycamore street, early today, kindly call for same? One or two questions may be asked.

CONVICT SAWS HIS WAY OUT OF JAIL

MARION, Ill., Nov. 10.—(AP.)—Harvey Dungey, notorious Birger gangster held here in the Williamson county jail while awaiting trial on a charge of murdering Lyle Worsham, another gangster, at Zeigler, Ill., sawed his way out of the top tier of cells last night and escaped.

Sheriff Coleman said that Dungey must have had outside help to make his escape so quickly, as it was not more than 10 minutes from the time he got away until it was discovered.

Dungey was brought here from the state penitentiary at Chester, Ill., about a month ago. He had been serving an indeterminate sentence for a robbery committed in Franklin county and was brought here to be tried for the murder of Worsham.

Worsham was kidnaped at Zeigler and taken to Birger's cabin, Shady Rest, east of here. He was murdered and his body disposed of at the cabin.

WETS SWEEP CAMBRIA COUNTY

Primary Vote Reversal Snows Drys Under

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Nov. 10.—A stinging rebuke to the cause of prohibition was administered by city and county at the general election, analysis of the results showed today.

Joseph Cauffiel, most spectacular mayor in the city's history, was returned to office for a third term by a victory which the wets trumpeted as joyously as they did the re-election of D. F. Weimer as district attorney of Cambria county.

Cauffiel, defeated for the Republican nomination, directed a bitter independent fight to triumph over Herbert J. Stockton, Republican and former school superintendent. Weimer ran on his Democratic nomination after losing the Republican spot to Alvin Sherbine and he won his fourth term with a 3,000 majority. Sherbine's support included the solid vote of the drys.

Cauffiel, as heretofore, is expected to keep the citizenry awake following his administration. Five years ago he attracted national attention when, during a mild water famine, he instructed breweries to make the market good beer as a substitute. Hundreds have been grateful to him since for the interlude.

CHARGING BEAR SHOT BY WEST VA. HUNTERS

MARLINTON, W. Va. Nov. 10.—A large black bear, charging out of a laurel thicket upon Paul Price, of Morgantown, and another hunter in the mountains of Gauley River, was shot dead in its tracks within a few feet of the men who were hunting deer and were surprised by the sudden attack. The animal weighed more than 200 pounds. Pocahontas county pays a bounty of $20 for each bear killed.

BREWERY HEADS GET HEARING

C. H. Ridall, president and director; E. J. Vilsack, vice president and director; E. C. Bauerlein, sales manager, and William J. Staff, brewmaster, of the Pittsburgh Brewing Company, were given a partial hearing before the United States commissioner late yesterday. Prohibition agents testified to having visited the Iron City plant of the company on Monday, and finding high-test beer, a quantity of whisky and other liquors. The complaint charged them with possessing and manufacturing intoxicating liquor. The hearing was continued.

FARMER ACQUITTED ON DAUGHTER'S CHARGE

William A. Smith, farmer and miner of West Deer township, was acquitted yesterday in Criminal Court before Judge Josiah Cohen of a charge preferred by his daughter, Laura Bell Smith. Smith declared the charge was a frame-up in retaliation for his efforts to prevent the delinquency of the girl and her association with an older woman and men who contributed to her alleged delinquency.

WED 50 YEARS

MR. AND MRS. G. W. JONES

Celebrating the golden anniversary of their parents, four daughters, two sons and eight grandchildren gathered at dinner in the home of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Jones of Delevan street, Squirrel Hill, Wednesday night. Mr. and Mrs. Jones officially observed their fiftieth wedding day on Tuesday, but the family celebration was held over until last night as a surprise to the old couple. Only one death has occurred in the family since Mr. and Mrs. Jones came to Pittsburgh from Houtzdale 20 years ago when they lost a son. The other members of the family are Miss Grace Jones, at home; Mrs. Wilson Bradley, Mrs. William J. Harris, Mrs. E. S. Stanier, Watson Jones and Hershel Jones, all of Pittsburgh.

GAS FORCES WORKMEN TO FLEE W. VA. MINE

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., Nov. 10.—Workmen rushed to the surface today when small quantities of gas were discovered in the workings of the Ben Franklin Coal Company's Panama mine. Gas crews relieved the situation.

3 YEARS FOR EX-REVENUE EMPLOYE

Clifford A. Shannon, 24, former assistant cashier in the office of collector of internal revenue here, was sentenced to serve three years in the Federal penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga., by Federal Judge F. P. Schoonmaker Wednesday when he pleaded guilty to embezzling $3,255 worth of government documentary stamps and selling them.

Another count of the indictment charging Shannon with the theft of $16,000 worth of stamps was nolle prossed, for lack of evidence. The theft of the stamps covered a period of three years.

At the time of his arrest he made a statement implicating John Burke, former cashier, and reiterated his allegation when he entered his plea, by telling the court that Burke had showed him how to embezzle the stamps by resealing packages from which he took them, but this allegation was refuted by James L. Pearce, a special agent of the intelligence unit of the treasury department, who said he had made a thorough investigation of Shannon's accusation against Burke and found nothing that would in any way involve the latter.

MEDITATIONS of a MARRIED WOMAN

by HELEN ROWLAND

WHO'S WHOSE IN MATRIMONY

ALL THESE lightning marriages and hair-trigger divorces out in Hollywood and everywhere else, are beginning to make my head swim!

Guessing "Who's Whose in Matrimony" is becoming the great tional game. It exhausts all your ingenuity and imagination st to get a crowd together for a party.

* * *

You plan a cozy little gathering of congenial married couples week ahead and by the time it is to come off, you have to shuffle all the place cards because half the husbands and wives are separated and engaged to somebody else.

HELEN ROWLAND

An actress files a suit for divorce; and before the slow old courts can get around to the case, she has broken her engagement to the "other man" and is trotting around with Hubby again and talking of re-marrying him.

* * *

That's what gets us all mixed up—this fad for RE-MARRYING your last season's husband or your last week's wife!

Apparently there is nothing like separating two people for a little while to hold them together for life.

Take away the microscope of domestic propinquity and the powerful and cruel lense of breakfast-table proximity and behold, they can't see the flaws in each other any more! All they can see is the old romantic halo that dazzled them in the first place. All they needed was a little perspective on each other!

* * *

It must be WONDERFUL! It must be a sweet and satisfying sensation to re-marry your ex-husband! All the thrills of a honeymoon—and none of the shocks, surprises and disappointments, at the discovery that you have married a human being instead of an angel!

* * *

You know just what to feed him in order to keep him in a good humor, just where he flings his shoes and his cigaret stumps, just how to avoid getting on his nerves, just how many times you will have to call him before he will get up mornings, just how much or how little it means when he glances at another woman, just how long he will keep you waiting and just how to dodge an argument or forestall a scrap.

* * *

You have his sins and his virtues all catalogued and filed. And in spite of all, you still LOVE him!

* * *

Oh yes, re-marrying your husband must be something like the delicious sensation of getting back to America after six months abroad, and finding all the dear familiar things, like green-corn, ice cream sodas, rocking chairs and chewing-gum slot machines, still there!

* * *

It must be worth the price of the divorce just to get back together again and find that love isn't dead—and that he or she is the ONE person in all the world that you want!

Fried Oranges

Peel and cut six large oranges in thick slices, dust with sugar and set aside. Make a batter of a cupful of flour in which a saltspoonful of salt, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, two tablespoonfuls of sugar, and two level tablespoonfuls of cornstarch have been stirred. Add the beaten yolk of an egg and a tablespoon of melted butter, then a quarter cupful of light cream. Mix well, then fold in the stiffly beaten white of the egg. Dip each slice of orange into the batter and fry in hot fat. Serve in a napkin and serve melted honey, butter and lemon juice in the sauce boat.

Doubt indulged becomes doubt realized.—NELSON.

THIS day must be read as one of doubtful accomplishment, according to the dominant stellar influences. Finances need husbanding, as there is a menace through normal channels as well as by way of extravagance and indulgence. Take no risks with funds, and postpone seeking assistance from those able to help. See that there are no irregularities with papers or writings. A deep and sinister undercurrent may be brought into the open. Be cautious.

Those whose birthday it is should prepare for a year of uncertainty in which there should be no financial risks or unusual outlays or indulgences of moneys. Neither lend nor attempt to borrow. A sinister condition may come to the surface. Sign all manner of writings with caution.

A child born on this day may require early training and discipline in the matter of handling its substance and avoiding personal extravagance and tendencies to grandeur incompatible with its resources. It may have singular views.

Chickie

DEAR MISS GALE:

Have enjoyed reading your column in the paper for several years, but never had anything to say until just lately, and would be glad to get some information from you. Now here is my trouble. I went with a fellow for about a month pretty steady, and one night he failed to show up and of course I flew up in the air about it, but never said a word to him, although he knew I was peeved at him. He has never come up since, but here's what puzzles me: If he sees me on the street he stops and speaks, and some times takes me home. A couple of times a week he comes to work after me, but never tries to make a date and as I like him very much, I guess you will understand the rest, Miss Gale. I would like to know how I could get him back. I agree with you on the smoking, drinking and getting questions. Wishing you loads of luck,

CHICKIE.

If you like this boy well enough to overlook his actions, then why not invite him to call? That is your privilege and he may be waiting for just that.

Wondering

DEAR MISS GALE:

I have been reading your advice for some time and think it is very fine. I have often wondered how you would answer the question which I am about to ask you. I met a man whom I cared a great deal for but who told me he was married. He told me this my first night with him but I had already fallen hard. My feeling was just as ache in my heart. I refused to see him or write to him, which I know you would tell me was right. This has been a year ago. I still care but he will never know. Please, do you think a man can love two women at the same time? Hoping to see my answer soon I remain

WONDERING.

No, I don't think a man can love two women at the same time. He was very honest with you, and the best thing for you to do is to try to forget him, my dear.

Madge Baffled by the Foreigner Who Shadows Her to the City

I WHIRLED and faced the red-bearded man as if astounded that he should address me. But I was not nearly as surprised as he intended to be. Some way I had a feeling when I saw him in the couch next to the Pull-that I had not seen the last of him.

"What did you say?" I asked sharply.

He ducked his head, spread his hands and grinned. The effect of his red beard was quite awful.

"Pleas, my Inglish not goot," he stammered. "But, pleas, I say to you. Ven deess train go back?" This one?" I said, pointing to the train on which we just had entered the city.

He laughed and nodded his unkempt head vigorously.

"Yah! yah!! dot vun."

I told myself a little grimly that he was mixing up every known foreign accent in his attempt to appear an ignorant alien, and I had a sudden impulse to snatch off his red beard and hair, which I believed were false, and see what secret of physiognomy they concealed. But I knew that even if some necessity had demanded the action I would have found it impossible to touch the unkempt individual who was looking at me with much the expectant expression of a friendly stray dog who would like food.

I turned to the station porter who had halted when I did.

"Can you tell him?" I asked.

The man's answer was prompt.

"It goes right out from here in half an hour," he said. "The passengers will begin to get down here pretty quick now. There's no traffic to speak of on this train coming in early Sunday morning, but it's always heavy going out toward the east end of the Island."

I turned back to the red-bearded man.

"This train goes back in half an hour," I said.

"Oh, tanks! tanks," he said, and dropped behind us. It was absurd of me to be nervous, but I was sure that for some unknown reason his eyes were upon me every second of our advance toward the gates separating the train platforms from the open waiting room of the Long Island road.

"To the parcel check room," I directed the station porter, and gave a little sigh of relief when, as we reached the gates, I heard a loud "Good-by!" and, turning, saw the red-bearded man waving his hat as he sat down on one of the benches.

Why on earth should any sane person wish to travel a hundred miles from the east end of the island to the city, as he had done, with the intention of sitting on a bench in the station for half an hour, and then returning to the place from which he had started out?

The questions were so bewildering and clamored so loudly for solution that with a soak at my wrist-watch I dismissed the station porter when I had checked my bag, and instead of sending him for a taxi, as I had intended, sank down in one of the seats near the checking booth to ponder a bit over the perplexing conduct of the red-bearded man.

The Alphabet

This is a quick "teaser" which requires timing.

At the word "Go," find letter A and touch it. Then go to B, C, D, and so on, through the alphabet. Do not cross out the letters as you go along, as that eliminates some and makes it easier to locate those remaining. Merely touch each one in turn, and time yourself.

Try this one on your friends and see how many seconds it takes each person to cover the alphabet.

YALE MAY LIFT BAN ON CALDWELL

Cue Kings Play Here

SPORT COMMENT by JAMES J. LONG

KNOWING that Stuffy McInnis had signed a two-year contract last winter when he accepted the managership of the Philadelphia National League club, many fans were inclined to ask "How come?" when the news was received from Philadelphia the other day that McInnis had been released and that Burt Shotton had been signed to succeed him as pilot of tailend Quakers.

Naturally, they were puzzled as to how a manager holding a two-year contract could be fired off his job when only one year of that two-year agreement had expired.

"What's the use of having a two-year contract at all, or a contract for any longer term, if it may be terminated by the club owners whenever they desire?" was the question asked.

THE whole explanation is that McInnis was paid off for that second year, and agreed thereupon to terminate the contract ahead of him.

Some of the Philadelphia writers, seeking to explain the happening, have expressed the opinion that it is the privilege of a club owner to terminate a contract at any time by giving the manager 10 days' notice of release.

"The employer can end the contract on 10 days' notice, but the player or manager cannot," one of them says.

That explanation would apply to an ordinary baseball playing contract, but it is erroneous as applied to the agreement under which McInnis was working. Stuffy's contract did not contain a 10-day clause, but was straight two-year pact which could be terminated in advance of the expiration date only by mutual agreement.

LEAGUE PRESIDENT HEYDLER has said he would not promulgate a player's contract minus the 10-day clause, but managers' contracts are different, and in this instance it was necessary for President William F. Baker to make some financial arrangement with McInnis before he could release him.

Whether the former Pirate first-sacker got the full year's salary for 1928 is doubtful, but it is certain that Baker paid him something to waive the second year.

There was no 10-day stuff about it. If there had been such clauses it would be ridiculous to sign managers for longer than one year, and after dropping McInnis, following one year's service it would be absurd to sign his successor, Shotton, for two years, as Baker has done.

FOOTBALL fans of the Pittsburgh district who attend the meeting of Pitt and Nebraska at the Stadium here Saturday will have a chance to see two Western Conference officials at work, and consequently an opportunity of comparing their performances with those of Eastern men who have served in local games frequently.

One of the Western men officiating here Saturday will be Frank Birch, an Earlham alumnus now residing in Sterling, Ill., who is to work as umpire, and the other will be H. G. Hedges, a Dartmouth man, but now a resident of Cedar Rapids, Ia., who is to be linesman.

Walter Eckersall of Chicago was to have been referee, but is unable to serve, and Ed Thorp of Columbia has been named for that post. Mike Thompson of Georgetown will be field judge.

WHILE on the subject of football officials, it may be stated that patrons of the game hereabouts are convinced after numerous demonstrations of his ability that Pittsburgh has one of the best officials in the whole country in the person of John P. Egan of Duquesne University.

Egan was a long time gaining the recognition he deserved. For years he worked in independent games for the old McKeesport Olympics, in high school events and in other comparatively obscure contests. One night a meeting of the officials of this section was held at Old City Hall for the purpose of discussing the rules, and it was discovered that Egan, though less widely known than some of the others present knew more about the rules than any one else in the house.

HARVARD ECHOES TIGER PLEA

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 10.—(INS.)—Yale today is reconsidering its hasty and totally unexpected action of Tuesday night in banishing Bruce Caldwell, its star ball toter, from the varsity football team as an ineligible. In the meantime Caldwell has been ordered by Coach Tad Jones to turn out for practice today.

With Coach Roper of Princeton publicly declaring that Yale will be harder to beat "without Caldwell than with him" and with the Princeton faculty committee voluntarily petitioning Yale to set aside this particular ineligibility rule "just this once," the Yale athletic committee will go into session on the matter this evening.

Caldwell was ruled off the team when it was disclosed he had played freshman football at another college before entering Yale.

And while there was no definite indication of the committee's decision which probably will be forthcoming tonight, it was generally believed in student circles that the committee would rescind its action—for the Princeton game Saturday, at least.

MAY SATISFY PRINCETON

John M. Gates, director of athletics at Yale, pointed out today that neither Caldwell himself, nor Yale, had knowingly violated the rule which exists between Harvard, Princeton and Yale—Caldwell not knowing of the rule and Yale having no record of his former play.

"It is a case," Director Gates said, "in which the spirit of the rule has not been violated, either by Caldwell or by Yale. Therefore, it is possible that a way may be seen to accede to Princeton's wishes."

The Yale committee, headed by Chairman Prof. George H. Nettleton, will go into action tonight to reconsider the peculiar case after the Princeton committee had decided in special session that "it would be deemed a pleasure at Princeton if Caldwell be permitted to play."

The Princeton body pointed out that in view of the late date at which the facts became known, it would suggest an exception be made in Caldwell's case.

The absence from the city last night of Chairman Nettleton, of the Yale committee, prevented any action before today on the question, although Caldwell announced last night that Coach Jones had instructed him to report for practice in uniform today.

In addition to Princeton's athletic commission's action messages were

M'KECHNIE BIDS FOR CUYLER

SKIPPER BILL M'KECHNIE of the Cardinals is reliably reported to be seeking Hazen Cuyler, star outfielder of the Pirates, who is supposed to be on the trading mart.

A report that the Cardinals' directors would be willing to give Pitcher Flint Rhem for Cuyler did not receive much of a cheer in Pittsburgh. Rhem is admitted to have as much stuff as any young pitcher in the game, but apparently he has been hard to handle and the Pirate directors would think a long time before consenting to such a deal. Rhem, however, is still a boy and doubtless will be the better for the discipline that has been meted out to him.

McKechnie is believed to be extremely anxious to land Cuyler to bolster up the only uncertain department of his club. That Bill is willing to trade Outfielder Billy Southworth, former Pirate, also is reported.

OLIVER PLAYS ALLEGHENY TODAY

By VERNON A. SWARTSFAGER.

Allegheny and Oliver High schools will clash this afternoon for the right to meet Westinghouse High School for the championship of the City League on Friday of next week. The game was carded for tomorrow, but changed at the last minute. It will be played on the Oliver High School gridiron. Allegheny is the one remaining barrier in the path of Oliver to the Section II. City League crown.

Sewickley comes up from down the river to battle with its old rival, Dormont, on Annapolis Field this afternoon.

Walter Cross' Schenley eleven will face Locke' Greensburg steam roller, and the dope leans toward Greensburg, which is a formidable W. P. I. A. L. contender. If we recall correctly, however, Schenley upset the dope and spoiled New Castle's title chances by defeating them last year.

South Hills High's machine also appears out of town. It plays against Mt. Pleasant, which is near Greensburg.

Arnold visits Aspinwall, Avalon and Ben Avon clash in a community struggle, Bellevue invades Coraopolis, Duquesne battles at McKees Rocks, Carnegie at McDonald and Braddock at Pitcairn. In virtually every cutting district good high school games are on tap.

The Jeannette-Washington and Butler-Wilkinsburg games are the feature contest of Saturday's card.

THROUGH the SPORTLENS by HAVEY BOYLE

HAVEY BOYLE.

SEEKING a reason why Wash-Jeff and Pitt offered a splendid example of the stalemate which comes from an irresistible force meeting an immovable object, a doctor of football was led to observe that nothing else could be expected when two experienced teams, each using a common system of defense and attack, met. The ghost of Pop Warner, former Panther mentor, who tutored Jock Sutherland in the fundamentals of the game and who also lent to Andy Kerr, of Wash-Jeff, the essentials of the Warner system, must have hovered over the deadlocked affair here.

Another doctor of the game observed that at no time in collegiate football have two clubs appeared as the owners of the finesse usually given only to grizzled veterans of the professional game. The inability to penetrate beyond the 20-yard line, the attempted goals from the field, the utter confidence each team had in its ability to check the other, even down to the way Wash-Jeff players verbally "rode" Welch, Pitt halfback, who, in turn, offered the same disdain for the Presidents, all gave the impression to this doctor in question that the Canton Bulldogs were playing the Massillon Tigers.

In one main particular, however, the analogy does not continue. Both sides tackled no more effectively, perhaps, but far more viciously than the professionals. The professional brothers are content with stopping their man; seldom do they pile up needlessly as do the collegians. Inspired to hit a man so hard he may not be able to get up for the next play. The professional boys, while playing to win, have learned that ethic: "Live and let live."

IN TWO sequential seasons now the Warner system here as opposed to the Warner system in Washington, Pa., has resulted in two scoreless ties. Obviously, the material must have been pretty well balanced on both sides. When this continued deadlock is broken the main reason will be because one team has gained in material and the other has lost, but it is a safe bet that when one team or the other wins in the seasons to come this fact will be overlooked in a make of reasons, none of which will be so sound as the one pointing to the disparity in talent.

BROTHERS ACCEPT TERMS

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.

THE Waner act of the diamond is safe for another year at least. Paul and Lloyd, at the dinner given them by the Pittsburgh Press Club last night, announced they had signed contracts with the Pirates earlier in the evening.

The star outfielders took time out from the theater to visit with Barney Dreyfuss, owner of the Pittsburgh club. After a pleasant conference, the two youngsters affixed their signatures to documents which they said were entirely satisfactory.

Generous advances over this year's contract were given both players, but neither cared to divulge the terms of the new documents or the size of the salary boosts. Brother Paul was playing under a fair-sized contract this year, it was said, but owing to the fact that he led the league in hitting, the right fielder is believed to have jumped his sum to a heavy amount.

Sprout, a first-year man, was paid accordingly, but the little lad had such a remarkable season that the local owner took note of the conditions and Lloyd was happy over the new pact.

Although the matter has not been decided, the older brother appears to have the inside track for the valuable player prize. Sprout, too, is expected to receive a big vote from the various judges. The younger of the two phenoms came through with the bang, especially in the last half of the race.

Paul and Lloyd made enjoyable talks at the dinner tendered them last night. They have made a big hit with their vaudeville act.

Dundee-Hudkins Not Likely to Fight

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 10.—(UP.)—Hope that Joe Dundee and Ace Hudkins may yet meet here in a bout for the world welterweight boxing championship was practically abandoned today.

Last night the management of Wrigley Field, where the bout was supposed to have been held last week, announced that it would not allow the match to be held there.

The match failed to go through last week when Dundee did not get a $50,000 guarantee before the fight.

The commission has confiscated Dundee's $5,000 appearance forfeit for failure to enter the ring against Hudkins on the night of the scheduled fight.

Motor Sq. Card Is Off

By HARRY KECK,
Sun-Telegraph Sports Editor.

THERE will be no boxing show at Motor Square Garden next Monday night. Matchmaker Johnny Ray called off the all-star card of four eight-round battles at noon today after having two of his bouts hit the rocks due to injuries.

Young Rudy, of Charleroi, injured an eye in training and had to cancel his windup match with Harry Hitman, of Philadelphia, and Willie Dales' manager, Jim Buchanan, sent word from New York that Dales injured his right hand in the second round of his 12-round bout with Corp. Izzy Schwartz there last night in which Schwartz received the decision. Dales had been paired for the semi-final against Luis Carpentero, of Columbus, on Monday night's bill.

The Motor Square Club originally planned to use George Godfrey as its main-bout attraction next Monday night, but the State Athletic Commission refused to sanction Andre DeRoss, of Italy, as his opponent and then the show of four right-rounders was planned. Matchmaker Ray said this afternoon he his tentatively closed a good local match for the week from next Monday and also one for the following Monday night.

THIRD DEFEAT FOR DAVIES

Dales' defeat by Schwartz marked his third straight setback, an unusual state of affairs for the Charleroi mite, who is ambitious of succeeding to Fidel LaBarba's abandoned world's crown. He lost to Johnny McCoy in the coast elimination tournament and last week dropped a referee's verdict to Midget Wolgast at Philadelphia. Reports of his bout in New York last night stated that Schwartz won every round, and Dales already has beaten Izzy three times. Perhaps Willie needs a rest from ring activity. Something is radically wrong with him, aside from the injury to his right hand, and, unless it is corrected soon, he may find himself too far outside the pale of championship possibilities to regain recognition as a contender.

Cochran, Schaefer May Join Three-Railers

By CARL W. SHATTO.

WORLD'S champions in every division of the rail and angle game likely will be numbered among the contestants in a new three-cushion billiard league now in the making—a league which should have more strength and more appeal than any ever before organized. This announcement was made today by Otto Reiselt of Philadelphia, world's three-cushion champion, here for a match with Willie Hoppe.

Among those who are to shoulder cues in behalf of the new circuit, according to Reiselt, are such giants of the billiard world as Welker Cochran, world's 18.2 balk line king, and Young Jake Schaefer and Willie Hoppe. Schaefer and Hoppe are co-holders of the 18.1 balk line crown. In a recent match that was billed as an 18.1 title duel, Schaefer defeated Hoppe, but a few weeks later the moguls of the green baize uncovered a technical error and returned Willie to his dusty throne.

Present plans, as announced by Reiselt, are to confine league activities to Eastern cities, thereby reducing to a minimum the heavy traveling expense, which proved such a stumbling block to the Inter-State League, a circuit which has been in a state of coma for the last two years.

STARS CONSIDER BIDS

Cochran has expressed a willingness to forsake California's sunshine and represent an Eastern seaboard metropolis, and Hoppe is to do his cueing in behalf of a New York billiard hotbed. Schaefer, who as yet has neither accepted nor rejected the league's offer, is said to regard the proposition favorably.

Layton, Hall, Kleckhefer and Denton are others who are being considered, with Reiselt, Hoppe, Cochran and Schaefer for the eight-man fight.

Although Hoppe has submitted to several of Reiselt's injections of three-cushion serum, he has not yet severed connections with the balk line sport.

"Both of them," was Willie's rather ambiguous answer when questioned as to whether the balk line or the three-cushion game was the more difficult to master. "The two games are so different in the matter of execution that no comparison can do justice to both. I find three-cushion play very entertaining, but I am confident that I shall never lose my fond regard for balk line."

Taking the stand for cross examination as to his views on a recent Paris demand that the next world's 18.2 balk line tourney be played there, Hoppe said he agreed with the Frenchmen that the recent showing of foreign stars had entitled Europe to the tournament, but added that he did not think arrangements to take the big event across the "pond" could be concluded in less than two years. Hoppe spoke highly of the ability of Conti, Horemans, Grange and Hagenlacher, and said their fine work had so increased the interest in billiards in Europe as to make a "continental" city a logical international tournament site.

Hoppe and Reiselt arrived in Pittsburgh yesterday for a 3000-point three-cushion duel at the Ellis Parlors, Diamond street. They are to play the third and fourth 1000-point blocks of their match this afternoon and evening and will conclude their stay here tomorrow night. Hoppe gained a lead of 100 to 86 in the first two blocks yesterday.

MAX WAXMAN

Welterweight Champion Dundee and his manager as they appeared when they were arraigned in court on a charge of fraudulent advertising in connection with the refusal of Waxman to permit Dundee to go through with his bout with Ace Hudkins in Los Angeles because Promoter Dick Donald failed to come across with Dundee's guarantee of $60,000 before the fight. The affair developed into a huge fiasco, marked by riotous scenes. An attempt is being made now to hold the match at a later date, with Dundee receiving his full guarantee.

Cougars' Hopes High

JACK ADAMS, Detroit Cougars, who oppose the Pirates in the opening game of the National Hockey League at Duquesne Garden next Tuesday night, will make a valiant effort this year to get nearer the top in hockey than they did last winter, their first in the professional circuit.

Last season the Tigers were harmless. There was nothing tiger-like about the Flivver City combination, which to make use of an obvious pun, certainly did flivver. However, it is a horse of a different color this season. Seven new men have been added to the roster along with a new leader, which the Cougar owners are confident will help quite a bit in the battle for the 1927-28 championship.

The Cougar owners opened their bankroll, bought several experienced players and added a few high class amateurs to the pay roll, making the Michiganders a potential candidate for highest honors in Hockeydom.

Coming with the Cougars are the famous Reg Noble, who made his "rep" with the Montreal Maroons; George Hay and Puss Traub, erstwhile Chicago stars; Stan Brown, last year with Tex Rickard's Rangers; Carson Cooper, from Boston; Duke Keats, Jack Sheppard, Clem Loughlin, Jack Walker and Happy Holmes, of last year's team, and a few lesser lights.

CALDWELL

sent Yale by President John Grier Hibben of Princeton, and the student council, requesting that Caldwell be allowed to play.

YALE NEWS BACKS BAN

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 10.—(AP.)—Whatever may be the decision of the guiding spirits of Yale football when they get together tonight to consider the proposals of both Harvard and Princeton that the eligibility rule be waived in the case of Bruce Caldwell and that he be allowed to play, the Yale Daily News sees no choice but to abide by the rule.

Under the heading "Admittedly in the Wrong," the News says today:

"Since the ruling was originally made in full appreciation of the injustice that might result, since both colleges have enforced it consistently to the present, and since Princeton even under the immediate circumstances believes in its wisdom and effectiveness, there is but one honorable course for Yale to follow. That is to uphold the letter and spirit of the agreement as it was actually conceived and has since been practiced. If the rule is essentially unfair, let us throw it out next year, but it is in force now and we must take the consequences.

"Consider the hard feeling and harsh words if we used this questionable power Saturday and should win."

TECH

of the most important intersectional struggles of the year.

Western Reserve, while conceded small chance of beating Tech, is nevertheless powerful enough to cause the Plaid quite a few anxious moments, and their Western style of play, taught by the redoubtable Locke, former all-America fullback from Iowa, will give Tech plenty to do as the Tartans seek to turn back the Forest City invasion.

The Tartans will be in charge of Advisory Coach Wally Steffen tomorrow, as Bob Waddell is to scout Detroit University as it plays at St. Louis. Detroit will furnish the final home opposition of the year for the Skibos next week.

Tomorrow will be known as Endowment Day and the entire proceeds of the game will be turned over to the Carnegie Tech endowment fund. In addition, the One Hundred and Seventh Field Artillery will be honor guests at the contest.

DUKES ARE READY

A preliminary contest that may turn out to be as good a football exhibition as the varsity encounter will bring Tech's crack Plebe eleven up against the Wash-Jeff yearlings.

Thankful that his squad is in good physical shape, and confident that he has destroyed the over confidence of the team with a week of grueling scrimmage and practice, Head Coach Elmer Layden of the Dukes gave his team somewhat of a rest yesterday as he brought the training period for the Waynesburg game tomorrow to a close. Today the team will be put through a signal drill and some calisthenics, just enough to keep the boys limbered up.

The Dukes will be outweighed both on the line and in the backfield, and besides, will be playing a team that has only been able to get going twice this season. The Jackets held Wash-Jeff to a 14-0 score in the first game and fought back the Geneva threat to a 12-6 count. Katy Easterday has had a lot of undeserved tough luck this fall, having had his squad riddled by injuries and unable to stand the gaff of the strenuous schedule, which had Georgetown, Wash-Jeff and West Virginia Wesleyan among the foemen to be played.

The Dukes will be out to make it four in a row with a victory tomorrow.

The biggest football team that has played in Pittsburgh since 1921, when an eleven from the same institution beat Pitt here, will take the field on Saturday against the undefeated Golden Panthers. That team, Nebraska, has lost one game this fall, a 7-6 duel with Missouri, which is to Nebraska what Tech is to Pitt.

The visitors will hold a weight advantage over Pitt greater than the one that Wash-Jeff wielded with such success. In addition, the Cornhuskers have a back touted as being the best ball carrier in the Mid West—this fellow Glenn Presnell. And besides, they have an All-Missouri Valley Conference guard on the team, Mullin, the 200 pounder who'll be opposed to John Roberts.

Against such odds, Pitt will have to rise to the heights that have made Pitt teams famous in the past. Coach Sutherland is still hoping to use either Fisher or Edwards at quarterback, but at best, the first hard knock and they will be "out." Tom Parkinson, who played quarter against Wash-Jeff, has been given a lot of work at that post this week, but he is a fullback, pure and simply, and it's more than a one or two-week job to convert him.

Both teams will work in the Stadium tomorrow, and both drills will in all probability be secret. The Cornhuskers are to be quartered at the Schenley.

COLIMA KNOCKED OUT

OAKLAND, Cal., Nov. 10.—(INS.)—Another dark shadow loomed in pugilistic ranks today, the shadow being Charley Long, Omaha Negro middleweight, who knocked out Bert Colima, Mexican battler, in six rounds here last night.

SPORT LENS

Yost, has made no difference in the game. "The point after touchdown is still being made." Perhaps the veteran coach has been misquoted. In Pittsburgh there is an impression that with the goal posts in their former position, instead of 10 yards deeper, Dick Booth might have kicked three points to beat Wash-Jeff.

A WEST VIRGINIA UNIVERSITY rooter writes in to say that he thinks West Virginia had a more difficult schedule than either Pitt or Wash-Jeff. He points out that the Mountaineers are called on to play in six major games, Pitt, Georgetown, Lafayette, Carnegie Tech, Missouri and Washington and Jefferson. There is no question about the difficulty of that schedule.

By the way, the discussion of the Wash-Jeff schedule as opposed to the Pitt schedule failed to get a rumble from any indignant Wash-Jeff fan or any enthusiastic Pitt fan. We trust we won't have to speak of this matter again, but in the future let there be more attention paid. Students who look out the window will have to remain after class.

THE case of Mr. Godfrey, the colored giant, shows the complexities of the boxing business. Some fellows are berated for not fighting often enough, while others are held in check when they want to fight too often. Godfrey socked two geezers on the chin recently in Philadelphia, one, Maloney, of the Sharkey-Maloneys, and one What's-his-name, who lasted exactly 30 seconds of the first round. Godfrey may not be the best man in the world, but he has reached the point now where first flight men like Heeney, Sharkey, Uzcudum seem only to be worthy. Thus Godfrey will find trouble outside of New York in getting indoor fights because he caught two fellows right on the whiskers so early in the fight that he now seems so good that he must be allowed to fight only against worthy, recognized and established opponents. These latter want the Woolworth building to meet Godfrey, so it looks as if Big George will have to wait for someone to offer a big purse.

HARRY HARPER NOW SHERIFF

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—(AP.)—Harry C. Harper, known in major league baseball circles as "Handsome Harry," now can be called "Handsome Harry, the Sheriff." He was elected sheriff of Bergen county, N. J., Tuesday. He was a southpaw pitcher for the Washington Senators, New York Yankees and the Brooklyn Dodgers.

SHOTS and PASSES

by Julius Levin

SHOWING steady improvement with each season, Davy Wilder, veteran guard of Doc Gordons, A. A. U. champions, is regarded by close followers of amateur basketball as one of the outstanding floor stars in this vicinity.

Wilder has been a conspicuous figure in amateur basketball for a number of years, his individual efforts being largely responsible for the excellent progress the Gordons have made in tristate floor circles.

Although the Gordons have been unable to affiliate themselves with a league this winter the club will operate independently, booking the leading first-class teams obtainable.

The Gordons have been showing excellent form in their preparations for the season's opener and will likely take the floor with a team much stronger than that which captured the amateur championship last winter.

THE Tristate Officials' Association is making plans for another active season. This group of arbiters will handle all games in the Allegheny County, Pittsburgh and Ohio Valley, Catholic Lyceum, Junior, Philadelphia Company and other leagues, besides numerous tristate college games.

While the ranks of this organization has been depleted somewhat by the removal of some of its members to other cities, the tristate body still boasts of some high-class referees.

DRIBBLES

THREE of last year's veterans must be replaced in the lineup of the Pittsburgh Tech team this winter, but judging by the caliber of material out for the quintet the Hazelwood coach will have little difficulty in filling the vacancies. This team faces one of the stiffest schedules ever arranged for a Pittsburgh Tech quintet, but is looking forward to the campaign optimistically.

The Crescent Club of Mt. Washington has organied and would like to arrange games with light first-class teams. Teams interested in booking this club will call Lafayette 0209-W between 5:30 and 6:30 and ask for Bob.

The B. L. Buccops, who will play in the Pittsburgh and Ohio Valley League this winter, have chosen Wednesday nights for their home games at the South Side Market House. This team includes in its roster some of the best players on the South Side and is determined to make a strong bid for the championship.

Fabio and Clark, two veteran basketball stars who earned recognition for themselves while members of the Mangans and the Goslins, will wear the colors of the Goldenson Furnitures this winter. Fabio plays a forward position, while Clark confines his activities to guard.

The Goldenson Vanities are hard at work for their opening game of the season on November 21 with the Kiulus girls of Braddock. This contest will be the preliminary to the Goldenson-American Legion battle.

Rudy Sauer, well-known basketball player of the North Side, is requested to call Cedar 1417-R between 5:30 and 6:30.

The Garfield Rangers, who opened their season by defeating the Gary Drug team of the Metropolitan League, 28 to 21, have dates open for light first-class teams. Call Mayflower 2845 and ask for Joe.

The Palace Club of Washington, a member of the American Professional League, have obtained the use of the decks of the U. S. S. Illinois, anchored in the Hudson River in New York, for basketball practice. This team has been strengthened as a result of trades engineered last winter and a better showing is expected this season.

Gene Replaces Lad's Gloves Eaten by Dog

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 10.—(AP.)—Ten-year-old Jackson P. Dick, Jr., met Gene Tunney on a train southbound from Canada recently and told the champion he also was a boxer but had been forced to retire because a "big old Irish wolf hound" ate up his gloves.

Gene jotted down Jackson's address and told him to look out for a new pair.

Today the youngster was preparing to resume "boxing" with a set of autographed gloves he had received from Tunney, and was swamped with would-be opponents who wanted to "try on" the new mitts.

Jackson is the grandson of H. M. Atkinson, chairman of the board of directors of the Georgia Power Company, and son of the assistant general manager of the same corporation.

Gene's Stand Stirs Rumpus

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—(AP.)—Gene Tunney is "mightily peeved" at Tex Rickard and is certain to cause "quite a rumpus" when he gets back to town.

That and no more would Billy Gibson, manager of the heavyweight champion of the world, say today in the absence of his warrior, now spending a few days roughing it at Racquette Lake, Old Forge, N. Y.

The aroused mental state of the champion has been caused, Gibson explained, by tales reaching Tunney's ears that Rickard is the "undercover" manager of Jack Dempsey, whom Tunney whipped for the title at Philadelphia last year and trounced again in defending the crown at Chicago this fall.

Jack Kearns, in his suit for $222,232.33 against the former champion, will allege that the promoter of the last two title battles has handled Dempsey's affairs for almost two years, he has announced. Other sources maintain that Leo P. Flynn, who managed Dempsey during the latter's "come-back" attempt, did so under the direction of Rickard.

"Gene will fight at least twice in 1928," Gibson said, "but not necessarily for Rickard both times. There has been no break between Tunney and the promoter, but I do know that the champion is mightily peeved at the stories going around concerning Rickard's connection with Dempsey. Jack's order for stock in Madison Square Garden hasn't helped matters any, either.

"Tunney is bound by contract to fight once for Rickard in 1928. He feels, however, that one battle a year is not enough to ward away ring rust and is certain that the knockdown Dempsey scored in the seventh round at Chicago never would have happened if he had been fighting oftener.

"Of course, I have no idea where Tunney's second match next year will take place. We have offers, backed by reputable sporting men, from both Chicago and Philadelphia. Gene may take one or both of them, but that will not be decided for some time to come."

MULLEN IN FIELD

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—(AP.)—Promoter James C. Mullen is planning to [illegible] soon with Gene Tunney, heavyweight champion, regarding Tunney's [illegible]ance in Chicago in defense of his title next summer. He will leave for the Eastern metropolis tomorrow.

The Chicago promoter said Tunney was not under contract to Tex Rickard and that he was a free agent, following a long-distance telephone conversation with Billy Gibson, Tunney's manager. He obtained the champion's promise to fight here during a conference after the Tunney-Dempsey fight last fall, he said.

Rickard, in New York, has denied reports of a break between Tunney and himself, declaring he holds a contract giving him an option of the champion's services as heavyweight champion until October 1, 1928.

PROS GO SOUTH

Dave McCormick of St. Clair and Walter Johnstone of Butler left yesterday for positions as golf pros in the South at Vero Beach, Fla.

With the Sandlot Gridders

By TOM BIRKS.

Gridiron activities are going to be more pronounced this week than at any time in the season. Quite a number of real games are going to be staged beginning tomorrow, and continuing Saturday and Sunday. When the results of these games are flashed around, some changes are going to be noticed in that so-called championship race.

Burns is going to tackle the East Pittsburgh Firemen. This should be a good game. The boys from the valley knocked off Springdale Amicus and that alone should bring a bumper crowd into the High School grounds. Manager Joe Tobin expects a good game and he feels that the Stein aggregation should win.

On Sunday plenty of championship games will be staged. The Port Vue Quakers will hook up with the Ryans of Hazelwood. Both are fast teams, and classed by their respective followers as the logical champions of the district. Hazelwood fans will take Second avenue car to Fifth Avenue Bridge, McKeesport, at Rebecca street, and walk to High School field. Game starts at 2 p. m. And what a game it should be.

Then there is the Carrick-West View battle scheduled for the park Sunday. Buck Weaver is enthusiastic regarding the chances of the Oaks to defeat the Parkites. Jake Bohren will be the pet threat. In his second game a little more team work can be expected. Last Sunday the Oaks had to buckle on all plays, but with long practice sessions being carded this week, Bohren and Lacelles will get more teamwork.

Out at Moultree Park, Soho, the Oakleafs will meet their traditional rivals, the Lawrenceville Mohawks. Whether these clubs are in the championship race or not the fans will always see a wonderful battle, with so much rivalry between them.

Hope Harvey was eliminated by McKeesport, so according to that the Olympics must still be the mythical race. Tomorrow the Olympics will play the Niles Leopards at Jeannette. Freddy Iverson is looking for a banner crowd with the classy opposition coming from the Buckeye State. One thing is sure the Olympics are not looking for any setups. And wait until the Olympics and the Port Vue Quakers meet in that Tube City championship.

With Thanksgiving close at hand it is only natural that managers are now taking that long chance and bumping off any likely opposition that might be around. Taking in the games in the district with an all-star team in mind it is still evident that few outstanding linemen are visible. Another thing last season plenty of good quarterbacks were around to select from, this season three of the best men on show last season are missing. But the games between now and Thanksgiving Day will give a good line on the men that must be rewarded for their sterling work on the Independent gridiron this season.

Fans of the Carnegie and Panhandle district in the independent and soccer football code are planning a Buff Donnelli day at Duquesne University tomorrow. Buff has played independent football together with his appearance on the championship Heidelberg soccer team, that is national amateur champions. Donnelli will probably be playing fullback in the game, and a large crowd of followers of the game from around the Panhandle district will be on hand to honor the Morgan boy.

HOPE HARVEY READY

In an effort to establish themselves as contenders for the city sandlot gyrd championship, the Hope-Harvey eleven will start their process of elimination by taking on the crack Homewood Scholastics at Phipps Field Armistice Day, in what promises to be the feature game of the day.

COHEN MAY PLAY

ITHACA, N. Y., Nov. 10.—(INS.)—The probability that Cohen, sub Cornell halfback, would see considerable action against Dartmouth Saturday was expressed today following his brilliant showing in scrimmage during the past few days.

Cup Play to Start Early

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—(AP.)—Radical changes were disclosed yesterday in the regulations for the Davis Cup competition, effective next year under French control and involving advancement of the whole playing program to much earlier dates than previously.

Although the United States Lawn Tennis Association has received no official notice of the changes, it is assumed that the French have received consent of the majority of participating nations to close the entries on January 3, make the draw on February 3 or 9, and start the elimination play around May 1, reaching a climax with the challenge round at Paris the end of July. Such consent is necessary under the Davis Cup rules.

The changes, as indicated in dispatches from France, have the approval of the U. S. L. T. A., although this country's plans for starting out on the challenging trail are still incomplete. One advantage of the earlier competition will be to permit a substantial foreign invasion for the American championships late in August or early in September.

KECK

phia, next Monday night, and will appear on the Mickey-Walker-Paul Berlenbach card at Chicago, November 25. Vic is working out with Berlenbach in New York.

Pete Zivic lost a close battle to Billy Shaw in 10 rounds at Detroit last night. Both scored knockdowns. Zivic finished the stronger of the two and reports from the ringside are that the fans greeted the decision with mingled cheers and jeers.

Homer Robertson evened up with Jimmy King of New Orleans for the questionable decision the latter won over him last week, when, in a return bout at New Bedford last night, Homer won handily, several times having his opponent on the verge of a knockout. Robertson has been matched to box Leo Lomski, the Coast star, who recently thrashed Yale Okun. The bout will be staged in Boston Friday night of next week, the eve of the Harvard-Yale game at Cambridge.

Monte Strike, Oakland featherweight, wants to fight the winner of the Johnny Dunn-Eddie Myers semi-final bout at Detroit tonight, or any of the other 126-122-pounders.

Harry Dudley, Negro welterweight, who, after a layoff of almost a year, gave Alex Simms a hard fight at McKeesport last Thursday night, is ready to answer the gong again, against Simms, Rudy Ceder or anyone else. His manager, Billy Lewis, has issued a challenge to the winner to tonight's windup at McKeesport between Ceder and Mike Dempsey. Lewis also has Jackie Murray, welter, and Kid Crutchfield, light-heavy, ready for bouts. He would like to match the latter with Marco Polo of McKees Rocks.

TAYLOR QUITS 'PLANE

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 10.—(INS.)—Bud Taylor, bantamweight fighter, who left here yesterday in an airplane to fly to the side of his dying divorced wife in Terre Haute, Ind., terminated his flight at Salt Lake City, according to word received here today. Taylor was stricken with "air sickness" during the flight. He will continue his journey by train.

THREE BOUTS FOR TIGER

NEW YORK, Nov. 11—(INS.)—Tiger Flowers, who hopes for another return bout at Mickey Walker for the world's middleweight title, "won't hold his breath until he gets it." The Tiger today had signed for three bouts, the first with Ring Conley at Boston next Tuesday, the second three days later with Tommy Lucas at Baltimore and one a week later with Jack Russell at Chicago.

KAYO IS SUSPICIOUS

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 10.—(INS.)—Henry Van Patten of Holland was "in Dutch" here today following his bout last night with Armand Emmanuel, San Francisco light-heavyweight. The Hollander slumped to the floor in the first round after being struck by a blow which seemed to be a little light to kayo a 170-pounder.

MIKE M'TIGUE TO QUIT SOON

TORONTO, Nov. 9.—(AP.)—Michael McTigue, the Methuselah of the prize ring, won't miss the "racket" when age finally drives him from competition because he can always "get fights at home."

The two-time light-heavyweight champion, admitting close to 40 years in the age column, announced today that he would retire from active glove work within a year. He has been fighting 17 years.

"I think I need a rest, don't you?" asked the veteran, who was knocked out in a round by Mickey Walker in Chicago a week ago. "I began fighting in 1910."

Mike's fighting at home, he explained, was taken care of by his three small daughters, the oldest of whom is eight years. "They can give me a battle any time," he said.

McCracken Ousts Pair; Fires Captain

EASTON, Pa., Nov. 10.—This is the story of a whirlwind lover and a star football player who received the most unique wedding present ever tendered a collegiate grid star.

At the Georgetown game last Saturday Capt. Harold Cothran, of the Maroons, met Miss Peggy Tackett, of Chase City, Va., a freshman at George Washington University. Sunday Cothran visited the young lady; Monday he married her.

Tuesday they came here and Cothran made the announcement that he would play two more games for Lafayette and then return to Washington to live.

Wednesday Coach Herb McCracken, not knowing that Cothran had been married, and apparently caring little, announced that Cothran had been banished from the team for the balance of the season. Infraction of training rules was given as the reason. Scotty Atkinson has been appointed acting captain.

DEMPSEY READY FOR CEDER

Mike Dempsey of Rochester, N. Y., and Rudy Ceder of Tarentum, will fight it out over the 10-round route tonight in the main bout of the Projectile Club show at the Palisades rink, McKeesport.

They will weigh in at 150 pounds at 3 o'clock this afternoon, a weight which will not hamper either of them. These lads are both well known in the Tube City, where in previous encounters they made a host of friends.

The eight-round semi-final will bring together two capable ringsters in Eddie Myers of Detroit and Johnny Dunn of New Kensington who will weigh in at 128 pounds.

Two Jeannette citizens—Ralph Barnes and Bernie Looman, 137 pounders—will furnish the action in the second number. There is real bitterness between these boys, who represent rival stables from the same town. Their friends in large numbers will be on hand to see them settle their differences.

The opener bout will be particularly interesting. It brings together Jimmy Prescott of Pittsburgh and Jesse Hokes of McKeesport, at 135 pounds. Hokes is a former amateur, and for the last four years has been in the Navy, where he cleaned up everything in his class.

LOS ANGELES OPEN PLAY AWARDED TO WILSHIRE

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 10.—(AP.)—Selection of the Wilshire Country Club as the scene of the third annual Los Angeles $10,000 open golf championship tournament, schedule 1 to be held over a three-day period, January 6 to 8, was announced today.

The Wilshire Club is considered one of the most difficult courses in this section.

GILES IN GOLF FINAL

PINEHURST, N. C., Nov. 10.—Ellsworth Giles, Jr., of Pittsburgh, a member of the 1926 Princeton golf team and medalist in the present tournament, today will meet F. T. Keating of Boston in the final of the annual autumn competition here. Giles defeated Arthur Jones of Baltusrol in the semi-final yesterday, 6 and 4.

Oldest Tobacco Pipe, Perhaps

AN ANCIENT tobacco pipe, believed to have been left behind by a workman in 1690, has been found in the tower of St. Mary Somerset, London. The pipe was apparently used when the tower was rebuilt after the great fire.

Good Men and True

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

FROM time to time I receive letters from girls declaring with vehement bitterness that there is not one good man in the world. Other letters I receive are wistful, hoping, but hardly daring to believe that young men exist who have respect for women, home and marriage.

Of course these letters are entirely mistaken. It is unfortunate that some girls find it so hard to meet and attract men who are worth while. But that such men exist—many thousands of them—is fortunately true. They are the backbone of our nation and of every nation, unselfish heads of the families of today and the future.

"Happy Lee"—bless her heart—has this to say on the subject:

"Dear Miss Fairfax:

"There are plenty of good men—I know from experience.

"For seven months I went with a young man whom I shall call Jim. He was all a girl could desire. He did not drink or smoke and would not cultivate girls who did. He saved his money every week. He spoke highly of his mother and father and respected their opinions. Nine times out of ten he would take their advice.

"He would not pet. Instead, he told me that petting wasn't good for any one and was sure to lead to wrong things. Jim was very mannerly and considerate of every one.

"I hope you will not get the idea that he is a 'mama's boy,' because he isn't. He is a good mixer and every one likes him. He indulges in all kinds of sports. Jim is one good man.

"My sister's friend once offered to get a young man for me, so that we could all four go out together. He could not get the young man he intended, so he brought Howard along as a substitute. He apologized and hoped I would not be bored to death.

"Howard was very quiet and didn't look interesting. Some girls would call him a dumb date. Just as an experiment I tried my best to be sweet and kind to him. My experiment worked. I found him very congenial. He does not smoke, drink or pet.

"During the three months I have gone with him he has not given me the 'line' most men give girls. He will not say or do anything unless he is sure I approve of it. Everyone talks about how easy and slow he is, but I like him more every day. And if I were not going away to train to be a nurse, I would do my best to keep him forever.

"These two, Jim and Howard, are not the only good men I know. Many other girls go with such men and I hope they will write and tell you about it, so that girls who are disgusted with men will take courage.

"HAPPY LEE."

Thank you, Happy Lee, for your interesting letter. It is good to hear from girls who have cheering news and happy, successful experiences to relate of their adventures in love and friendship.

Love is often difficult—sometimes tragic. Marriage involves drudgery and sacrifice if it is to succeed. But it is the glorious adventure of life! What girl or man is unwilling to undertake life's finest adventure because skill, patience, charm, unselfishness, persistence—every attribute of fine character—is the price of success!

In this free-and-easy age, many men and many girls mistake license for freedom and this is reflected in vulgar manners, conversation and self-indulgence. But at least this trait is easily seen, so that it should not prove hard to avoid mistaken friendships and to search for a better type of companion.

It is the privilege of every girl to seek through friendship, a good man, whom she can care for, attract, and win as her husband. That is one reason it is so important to prefer even solitude to destructive friendships and to appreciate and cultivate the right type of young men as friends even though they may not seem at first thrilling or even very interesting.

Can you not manage, dear girls, to unite with your charming modern frankness and directness, a certain reserve, delicacy and modest sweetness, which have been through the ages and always will be, part of the ideal a good man holds of womanhood? Then even though you may lose some degree of popularity with "sheiks and cake-eaters" you will win the respectful friendship and devoted love of good men and true!

Shop for Christmas Now, Urges Fay King

INSTEAD OF RUSHING THE LAST FEW WEEKS, MAKE YOUR XMAS SHOPPING A PLEASURE BY STARTING NOW AND DOING A LITTLE EACH DAY
CHRISTMAS MAIL NOT TO BE OPENED UNTIL DEC. 25
CURB YOUR CURIOSITY AND PUT YOUR GREETING CARDS AWAY UNTIL CHRISTMAS MORNING
REMEMBER CLERKS, POST OFFICE EMPLOYES, AND DELIVERY MEN WANT TO HAVE A MERRY CHRISTMAS TOO!
FAY KING

By FAY KING.

THE average woman adores to shop. She is never happier than when roaming through the fascinating shops, inspecting all the lovely things that are everywhere to be seen.

Yet these days you hear them begin to complain about the Christmas shopping that they will soon have to do and how much they dread it!

This is because, womanlike, they do not use any system in their shopping. They wait until the last few weeks, rushing about nervously and unstrung and irritable.

Now a little forethought can make Christmas shopping a very happy time instead of the worry it often is!

Why not shop outside the rush hours, say from 10 to 4? Why not buy only two or three things in one day? Why not attend first to the things that call for extra time on the part of others, such as gifts that must be engraved or leather that must be stamped?

By getting at those first they will be delivered to you early. This work takes time to be well done.

The cost of a gift does not matter so much as the care with which it is chosen. Even a greeting card, if it is one that is picked because you know it is just the kind of a card that particular friend will like most, brings more cheer because of careful choice.

The postoffice has already sent forth its plea for "Please Mail EARLY." People hesitate to mail things early because they think their cards and gifts will be opened at once too long before Christmas!

The real success of "mail early" depends upon the people receiving packages and cards. They should curb their curiosity and put their mail away until Christmas Day.

Christmas will be a happier day for them by doing this.

Don't worry if you then find some one has remembered you that you have momentarily forgotten. A pleasant little note written to them later will be as welcome as the card you forgot to send.

Remember Christmas falls on Sunday this year and Monday will be a holiday!

HOW TO KEEP WELL

Cheerful Thoughts Yield Dividends in Health

MOST of the time, when the relation of mind and body is discussed, I place particular emphasis on the mentally depressing effects of bad health. It is easy to show that overeating constipation, getting too tired and living in contaminated air are sufficient causes for loss of sleep, bad dreams and lowered vitality.

DR. COPELAND

But no honest man can deny that worry, anxiety, fear, discontent, envy, hatred and evil thoughts will drive sleep from the eyelids and turn the quiet of the night into a very hell of misery. Where is there a person past 30 who has not passed many a night like this?

Constant repetition of experiences of this sort will undermine the strongest body. That is why unhappiness is the chief enemy of the human race.

Our Christian Science friends are in possession of a great blessing. They have learned that fear of one variety and another is at the root of most of our troubles.

But they have no monopoly of this truth and its practical application. It is not a secret revealed only to them. It is a fact that has been in possession of mankind since philosophers began to muse and wise men communed together.

"As a man thinketh in his heart, so is he." A great man of old said that, and lesser men have repeated it daily. Everybody knows its truth.

Knowing it, why do we not act upon its implied direction? Why do we permit ourselves to think bad thoughts and to have our souls overflow with bitterness?

In my opinion, there is far more good in this world than bad. The natural tendency of men is to do right and to be kind. Fear of one individual for another one, is very likely founded on misunderstanding. Charles Lamb said, "You can't hate a man you know." When you learn to know him you find him to be good.

If you are harboring unkind thoughts about another, why not go to that person in perfect frankness and "have it out" with him? Several times in my life I have done this and afterward my reconciled friend and I laughed at ourselves because we found that, after all, there was nothing between us worth fighting or grieving over.

A colt can be coaxed to nose the locomotive to discover it is a thing which need not be feared. A wild animal can be tamed by kindness.

Are we more stupid than the colt, or more fierce than the grizzly bear?

The preacher can make any application he pleases of the sermon I have given you today. My purpose in preaching it is not to get you into the Heaven after earth, but to try to make this earth a heaven of health, vigor and long life.

I want you to have happiness in order that you may have health and contentment of mind so you will have the consciousness of physical strength and endurance. By right thinking you will multiply your physical usefulness and add years to your life.

Answers to Health Queries

M. G. K. Q.—Will a little common baking soda after meals help gases in the system?

Your Smile and Your Teeth

Priscilla Dean

Now Gums Like Coral; Teeth Like Pearls

DENTAL science now proves that off-color teeth can be whitened; tender gums firmed and given healthy coral color. One's whole appearance is changed.

Famous $100,000 stars of the movies use this new method as a "make-up" before going on a scene. That is why movie smiles are so gleamingly white. Leading denists widely advise it, because it protects the teeth and gums.

It is called Pepsodent—a new-type tooth paste that works by removing the dingy film coat from teeth that old-time dentifrices did not clear off successfully. That's why brushing has failed you.

Run your tongue across your teeth and you'll feel that film. A slippery coating that absorbs discolorations and keeps your teeth off color; that breeds bacteria and invites tooth decay, gum troubles and pyorrhea.

Remove it and you will be amazed at what you see. Discard old ways now. Get Pepsodent at any drug store. Or send for 10-day tube.

Virginia Corn Meal Griddle Cakes

Beat two egg yolks into a quart of milk. Add a saltspoonful of salt, a heaping teaspoonful of sugar, and yellow cornmeal enough to make a thin batter. Beat the whites of the eggs stiff and fold in; then turn by the spoonful onto a hot greased griddle, making the cakes thin and fry in the usual way. Serve with hot honey and unsalted butter.

Steak en Casserole

Cut two pounds of tender steak into small serving pieces. Butter a casserole dish and lay in the steak in alternate layers with sliced potato, butter, pepper, salt and a little sugar, an onion chopped very fine. Dust with flour. Around the meat place little heaps of peas and sliced carrots. Turn over all a cupful of good stock. Cover the dish and cook in the oven about an hour and a half.

Neutral Shades

Plain sweater costumes are of neutral shades that tend to form an extremely effective background for accompanying patterned scarfs, done in bright, geometric designs.

It's a Pity To Stay Fat

In these days

Don't do it, when so many have found the right way to reduce. You see them in every circle—happy, healthy people who have lost the burden in an easy, pleasant way.

Since the year 1907, people have been fighting excess fat by scientific methods. They combat the cause. Were fat as common as it once was the dress styles of today could never have come into vogue.

That modern method is embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. Over-fat people have used them for twenty years—millions of boxes of them. Now you see the results wherever you look. Why not enjoy them yourself?

Users of Marmola are not forced to abnormal exercise or diet. Moderation helps, but starvation is taboo. One simply takes four tablets daily until weight comes down to normal.

Every box of Marmola contains the formula, also the reasons for the many good results. You know just what you are taking and how you get the effects. You will have no fear of Marmola when you know the scientific facts.

Go get a box today. Learn how it acts, and why. Then watch the results in new vitality and loss of weight. Then tell your friends. You can do no greater kindness to people who overweigh.

Marmola prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at $1 per box. If your druggist is out, he will get them at once from his jobber.

Jeanne Eagels Longing to Play Role of Lady Emma Hamilton Next to Follow Her Sadie and Simone

By GEORGE SEIBEL

SADIE THOMPSON and Simone Lagorce went walking in Schenley Park yesterday, and came back as Jeanne Eagels, who has made both these ladies famous. She is just as vivacious and charming off the stage as on, and was not a bit disconcerted by dropping six floors in an elevator a few hours earlier, and having to crawl out through the shaft. For Miss Eagels has a habit of getting anywhere she is going, illustrated by the way she got her first important engagement with George Arliss. She received a telegram:

GEORGE SEIBEL

"How much do you weigh?"

She answered by another telegram:

"How much do you want me to weigh?"

The answer came:

"One hundred and ten."

And she replied:

"I'll weigh 110 when I arrive."

Miss Eagles was born in Boston, her father was Spanish, her mother Irish, and from the age of seven she appeared on the stage, for years in tent shows. Which will explain her versatility and her success. There is the tragic Castilian background, the light-hearted Hibernian vein, the mental poise of the true Bostonian, and she is at home in the theater.

The first important part she ever had was Puck, in "Midsummer Night's Dream," and there is much of the mischievous elf in her still. She is eager to play Cleopatra, she has thought seriously of Hedda Gabler, but the one character that fascinates her is Lady Emma Hamilton, the enchantress who won the heart of Horatio Nelson. Miss Eagels has read over a hundred plays on the subject, but not one of them has proved satisfactory.

Another role she covets is the heroine of "Mary Rose," Barrie's most beautiful fantasy, in which Ruth Chatterton appeared seven years ago. Sadie Thompson, who thinks too much, and Simone Lagorce, who thinks not at all, meet in their admiration for the delicate sentiment and whimsical humor of J. M. Barrie.

Miss Eagels (her father's name was originally Aguila) has had one great disappointment since she started to play "Rain" five years ago. Not a single missionary has come to protest and show her the error of her ways. She has had about a thousand letters, many from churchmen, commending her for the part, but no attempts to convert Sadie. Which was a sore disappointment, because she was ready for them with one knockdown argument: "Sadie Thompson is the only Christian in the play, and the play is a sermon on intolerance."

"And your new play, 'Her Cardboard Lover,' on what theme is that a sermon?" I asked her.

"I chose that play because the character of Simone was the very opposite of Sadie—but it has its lesson, too. There are such women as Simone, and I'm holding the mirror up to them. The play pleases the audiences because they recognize Simone. Oh, yes, she is Sadie's sister under the skin. The only difference is that one thinks too much and the other too little."

There is real philosophy in that blonde head which might serve a new Romney as model for a new Lady Hamilton, if her next play should portray the Divine Lady to her taste.

VICTOR GERMAN ARTISTS TO SING HERE MONDAY

Victor German Artists will be heard at a concert in the North Side Carnegie Music Hall on Monday, November 14. The artists include George Gut, lyric tenor of the former Stuttgart Royal Opera; Teies Longtin, dramatic tenor of the New York Wagner Opera; Louis Richling, baritone, and Kurt Schlegel, elocutionist of the German Opera Theater, New York; with F. Seidel, accompanist.

Wrong Number -:- Sawdust Opera -:- A Woman's Aim

LEWIS STONE and Alice White, in "The Private Life of Helen of Troy," show evidence that the Trojan horse must have been a telephone exchange, too.

CHARLIE CHAPLIN in his new picture, "The Circus," gets his "picture took" with a check-suited gent who can be none other than the manager, or, at least, side-show spieler.

ANN RORKE is typically feminine in trying to sight with a closed eye. Louise Fazenda doesn't know which to close, so uses both. These cowgals are in the company making "A Texas Steer."

BELASCO ONCE BENT LOW

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—"I have cleaned the shoes of stars and swept the stages of many theater to reach my place in the show world."

David Belasco quoted from his own experiences in giving advice to Bernard Sussman, young actor and assistant stage manager, when he testified yesterday before Supreme Court Justice Black.

The occasion was the hearing of Sussman's suit of $250,000 for damages against Charles Frohman Belasco's partner in the promotion of "The Dove."

Sussman charged his career was ruined when a piece of falling scenery struck him, fracturing his skull breaking his jaw and impairing his hearing and speech.

"My Maryland," the popular musical drama in the Alvin, has been booked for another week to meet the unprecedented demand. John B. Reynolds, manager of the Alvin, states that next week, however, positively will be the final week with the last performance on November 19. Tickets for the last week were placed on sale today.

A Mutual burlesque, "Moonlight Maids," comes to the Academy next week. The cast is headed by Billy Hagan, character comedian.

"The Rush Hour," a comedy, Marie Prevost's latest picture, will be on view in the Aldine, beginning November 14. Harrison Ford heads the supporting cast.

Mary Pickford is supported in "My Best Girl," her new picture, showing in Loew's and the Penn next week, by Charles Rogers, Hobart Bosworth, Carmelita Geraghty, Lucien Littlefield and Mack Swain.

"The Rough Riders" will be shown in the Grand next week, with Charles Farrell and Mary Astor. On the stage will be a musical specialty.

COOKING SCHOOL ECHOES

Hot Breads for breakfast in 10 minutes!

SINCE I have learned to make muffins, Johnny Cakes and other things the day before and reheat them quickly in the morning, we have hot breads all the time. And no one realizes that they are not baked fresh every morning.

I wet them (just a "dash" under the cold water faucet), heat them thoroughly in a covered pan, removing the cover a minute before serving to be sure they are dry.

I used to think that because hot breads require so little shortening they could be made with any odds and ends of fat I happened to have in the house. But one day I made some muffins with Crisco and they were certainly the best I ever ate. Light, tender, with a wonderful flavor and appetizing smell. They were so much better than any I had made before that now I use Crisco for every hot bread I make, and I do get the most gratifying compliments on all my hot breads. They really could not be any better if made with the best, most expensive butter.

DELICIOUS PASTRY, CAKES AND FRIED FOODS, TOO

Crisco is by no means limited to making hot breads. I find that I can always depend on Crisco for flakier pie crusts, delicious cakes, dainty desserts—and for all frying.

Manhattan Muffins

When baked with Crisco, as light and dainty a muffin as you could imagine. For special occasions bake in tiny party pans. Spat each one, put in a piece of butter and serve at once. They make just one mouthful.

½ cup Crisco — 1 cup milk
½ cup sugar — 1½ cups bread flour
1 egg (beaten) — ½ teaspoon salt
4 teaspoons baking powder

Cream Crisco, sugar and salt together. Add eggs, then milk. Last baking powder and flour sifted together three times. Beat until smooth, bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) 25 minutes. If ordinary muffin tins are used, this recipe will make 12 to 15 muffins.

Johnny Cake

A real New England recipe. If Crisco is used, this Johnny Cake will be light, tender and delicious.

½ cup Crisco — 1 cup thick sour milk
½ cup sugar — ½ teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt — 1 cup bread flour
1 egg (beaten) — ½ cup cornmeal
4 teaspoons baking powder

Cream Crisco, sugar and salt together. Add egg, then sour milk and soda beaten together. Last baking powder, flour and cornmeal sifted together three times. Beat until smooth and turn into Crisco'ed shallow pan. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) 25 minutes.

[ALL MEASUREMENTS LEVEL]

CRISCO is used by Mrs. George O. Thurn in the Sun-Telegraph Cooking School held this week in Memorial Hall.

To test your cooking fat—taste it. Crisco's sweet flavor will astonish you.

What is this "YELLOW MASK"?

Will you make this simple test to discard it?

Look at your teeth. Have they a yellowish tinge—appear stained? That is "Yellow Mask."

So unsuccessful have you been in your attempts to remove it that, like others, you have come to believe that yellowish hue is in the enamel—irremovable!

But the truth is you have teeth white as glistening ivory. That ugly, yellowish hue hides in a glassy mask that envelopes the teeth. This mask is known as Calculus. A "liquid cement" in your saliva forms it. Acts like a glue—first sticky, then hard. Ordinary dentifrices usually gloss right over it.

But now dental science can give you those lovely, pearly teeth—often in a few brushings! For it has finally succeeded in incorporating in a tasty, pleasant tooth paste the one substance that positively removes this mask—"Tri-Calcium Phosphate." This magic substance is what your dentist uses to clean teeth. And you know what beauty miracles he works with it!

The name of this new and finer tooth paste is ORPHOS. It cannot harm the softest enamel. Dentists everywhere are recommending it—especially for teeth difficult to whiten. Buy a tube from your druggist or mail coupon below for a 20-Time Tube FREE. Convince yourself that teeth loveliness can now be yours too.

LOOK FOR THIS! Note the "brush cling" when you use ORPHOS—also the utter absence of that nauseating foam.

The Tri-Calcium Phosphate Does It!

80 LEAVE HERE ON SEA OUTLET STUDY

In quest of information to help Pittsburgh best utilize the year-round water outlet to the sea to be made available when the improvement of the Ohio River is completed, a party of 80 business men left in a special train last night for a tour of Mississippi River and Gulf of Mexico cities under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce. They plan to study rail and river terminals in seven cities.

The building of locks and dams to slackwater the Ohio was started 40 years ago, but the project is nearing completion only now. By 1929 it is expected that a permanent 9-foot stage of water will have been established between Pittsburgh and Cairo, where the Ohio discharges into the Mississippi. In anticipation of heavy increase in water traffic an effort will be made on the present tour to establish closer relations between Pittsburgh and down-river ports.

The party is in Louisville today. It will visit St. Louis tomorrow, Memphis Saturday, Houston Sunday and Monday, New Orleans Tuesday, Birmingham Wednesday and Cincinnati next Thursday. It will return to Pittsburgh Friday of next week. At all the cities visited the party will be entertained by the chambers of commerce.

KNOXVILLE ELKS WILL HOLD BANQUET FRIDAY

Knoxville Elks will hold their annual Armistice Day banquet on Friday in the lodge rooms. Speakers will be Councilman Harry Little, Attorney A. V. Wassen and Henry H. Hanna.

BUSINESS MEN INDORSE NEW CALENDAR

Seven more Pittsburgh business men today authorized the announcement that they approved the plan to simplify the calendar by establishing 13 months of four weeks each. They are:

Charles D. Armstrong, president of the Armstrong Cork Company.

Charles W. Brown, president of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company.

Sidney F. Heckert, managing director of the National Fireproofing Company.

A. W. Robertson, president of the Philadelphia Company.

E. R. Clarkson, controller of Kaufmann's department store.

J. B. Shea, president of the Joseph Horne Company.

E. S. Bayard, editor of the National Stockman and Farmer.

Mr. Clarkson said:

"Insofar as the department store business is concerned, the proposed change in the calendar would be a tremendous advantage. We would have the same number of Sundays in each month and we could have the holidays falling on the same day of each year. It would be particularly advantageous in preparing budgets and planning the future of business in general."

EXPLODES FALLACY

One of the objections most commonly voiced to calendar revision was shown by Dr. Heiser D. Curtis, director of Allegheny Observatory, in an interview today, to rest on fallacy and have no weight.

Questioned concerning the widespread belief that the present arrangement of the months is based on movements of the heavenly bodies and that to alter it would be to fly in the face of natural law, the noted astronomer pointed out that the world owes the present awkward system in part to the vanity of two rulers of ancient Rome, Julius and Augustus Caesar, who had months named for them and insisted that those months should be no shorter than any others, with the result that the inequality of the distribution of the days of the year was intensified.

Dr. Curtis said that astronomers ignore the calendar in making their calculations, because of its irregularities and inaccuracies; they use a system of their own instead. They are, therefore, not so much incommoded as business men, and it is the latter who have most to gain and should be most interested in the proposed reform.

"Long before the dawn of history," said Dr. Curtis, "primitive man tried to keep account of the days by the thing in the sky that was most noticeable to him, the moon. From this comes the month of the present calendar. But our months today have absolutely nothing to do with the moon or its phases. Full moon sometimes comes at the beginning of a month, sometimes in the middle, sometimes at the end; the only connection our present month has with the moon is an historical one.

CAN'T USE SUN CALENDAR

"Later, man found it necessary to try to fit these primitive moon-months into the year as determined by the sun, and got into trouble at once. The sun determines our seasons of the year, but there is no known way of making any calendar of months or of days fit the year exactly. We shall always have to put in an extra day now and then, the reason being that there is not an even number of days in a year, the exact number being 365 days, 5 hours, 48 minutes and 45.51 seconds, or a little less than 365 and a quarter days.

"But though our present calendar is a good fit with the sun, it is rather a hodge-podge as regards the months. Julius and Augustus Caesar named two months after themselves in Roman times and made them 31 days long, robbing poor February in each case. So now our months vary in length from 28 days in February to 31 for a number of others, and the only way we can remember is by memorizing a little nursery rhyme. The days of the week fall on different dates, and only by a complicated process can we find what day of the week will be the Fourth of July in 1947.

"The astronomer has not very much interest in a new calendar, but commercial life and 'big business' have long recognized the difficulties in the present calendar, and it is from these interests that any demand for a change must come; likewise, any change in our present calendar must satisfy the needs of business. July is now 10 per cent longer than February, while a monthly salary will be the same."

Rheumatics are Wild with Joy

Nurito Prescription Acts Like Magic, Making Bed-ridden Sufferers Get Up and Dance.

DRUGGISTS GUARANTEE IT

Nothing has so startled the community as the effect of Nurito, a physician's prescription for rheumatism, neuritis, neuralgia, sciatica and lumbago. It is now to be had at the local drug stores and is certainly a boon to humanity. Many won't believe such a thing possible as almost instant relief in even bed-ridden cases of excruciating pain. They say it must be a narcotic. But it isn't anything of the sort, and to prove it, get the regular package from the drug store. Try it as directed and if it doesn't prove almost a miracle in driving away pain with two or three doses the druggist will refund the price you paid him for it. Ask at the drug store for a box of Nurito on this guarantee. At all drug stores and McCulloch Drug Stores.

NEURALGIA

Worker Bares His Budget; Says Many Do Not Prosper

By B. C. FORBES

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE'S recent rather glowing picture of our national prosperity has moved numbers of humble citizens to protest that they are not enjoying a fair share of the good times.

Some men of affairs have privately questioned the wisdom of the President's action, on two main grounds: First, that conditions were painted in too rosy colors and, second, that the inference drawn by many people was that the actual situation apparently needed boosting.

Letters received from readers indicate that the President's statement has tended to create discontent among those who have not been finding the going particularly comfortable.

ARE not those who have attained a satisfactory financial state in danger of assuming that our people have new financial worries? "He jests at scars who never felt a wound," said the wise Shakespeare.

Learning something of how the other half of the world has to live sometimes tends to make us think, act, live more considerately, sympathetically, helpfully.

READ this intensely human document, from the breadwinner of a Seattle family with a weekly salary of $27.50:

"I am enclosing a copy of my monthly budget, which you will see leaves out many essentials and leaves nothing for emergencies which are constantly cropping up, forcing me to borrow from time to time, so that I now find myself in a tangle from which it is going to be hard to extricate myself.

Monthly budget:

Payment on house	$ 23.10
Light	2.75
Water	.75
Life insurance, *$1,000	1.90
Sick benefit	1.25
Boy's school bank	.10
Daily paper	1.00
Fuel	10.75
Carfare	4.50
Lunches	6.75
Tobacco	3.00
Taxes	4.00
Housekeeping	4.00
Clothing	15.00
Amusements, books, magazines	4.00
Total	$123.75

*Very inadequate.

"I am employed in a department store. Have been in my present position for five years, but see little hope of promotion. Whenever I broach the subject I get a pat on the back, and am told to have patience.

"I feel that I am capable of something much better and am anxious to undertake some additional work to add to my income, but seem unable to locate anything. A recent "ad" seeking evening employment brought only two replies, both unsatisfactory.

"I am fully cognizant of the fact that very few of those who are enjoying the prosperity which Mr. Coolidge calls to our attention are not doing so on the basis of an eight-hour day; I am quite willing to work 10 or 12 hours to earn a salary sufficient to provide adequately for my family.

"I do not care to send my wife to work, as so many in my position are forced to do—even if her strength would permit, which is doubtful. She is a good wife and mother, and in that I feel is doing her share.

"If you can offer any suggestion, I assure you it will be appreciated, for I am going in the hole at the rate of from $10 to $20 a month and it is getting my goat."

A PHILADELPHIA reader, 35, earning $3,500 working for a corporation, complains: "It seems to me that those of us who are willing to assume responsibility do not get a chance. It seems I am not getting anywhere. I cannot agree with you that it is easier to rise than it used to be. My faith in myself continues. But am I too eager?"

STILL another reader, in Brooklyn, N. Y., is dissatisfied because the business he owns "pays only between $6,000 and $10,000 a year." He feels capable of holding a $10,000 job, although only 25, and wonders whether he shouldn't switch? My advice to him is: Don't.

WHAT would you offer the Seattle reader in the way of advice, suggestion, encouragement?

NARROW PRICE CHANGES IN LOCAL STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—(AP.)—Bond prices continued firm in today's market, but trading again fell off to a relatively small volume. Chief interest centered in the closing of the books on the new $400,000,000 treasury 3½s and the prompt oversubscription of the $20,000,000 North German Lloyd 6s, reported by the offering syndicate.

Buying of listed issues again centered largely in railway liens, such as Lake Shore 4s, New Haven 4s and New York Central and Hudson River 6s, all of which duplicated their previous peaks for the year. A few utility mortgages gave a good account of themselves, notably Elgin, Joliet and Eastern 5s, which advanced 2 points to 107¾, and Philadelphia Electric, which sold in moderate amounts around 99. Industrials were quiet.

French obligations were again firm, but Italian issues were under nominal pressure. Federal government securities displayed easing tendencies.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—(AP.)—Transactions in the most active bonds on the New York Stock Exchange today were as follows, the omitted in sales column (United States bonds in dollars and thirty-seconds of dollars):

RUTH PALMER

Miss Palmer is shown in a Newtan malina coat with fox shawl collar, cuffs and border which she picked up in shopping expedition to the Lorraine Specialty Shop, Penn and Sheridan avenues, East End.

CATHERINE GILMORE

Here's something else again. Miss Gilmore in a maize satin and tulle evening gown, which took her eye as she accompanied Miss Palmer. She, Miss Palmer and Miss Buell are members of the cast of "My Maryland," playing here this week. "Charming," was Miss Gilmore's verdict on the mass of fluffiness. And, looking at Miss Gilmore, and, of course, the dress creation, there's several reasons for agreeing.

JULIET BUELL

Miss Buell couldn't resist this afternoon dress of metallic and transparent velvet. And to think that all these selections were made during the morning hours when, tradition says, actresses should always be asleep.

So much more vigor

—when the system is cleansed of poisons we all have

DO you know that poisons form all the time in your system? They get into the blood stream and so rob you of the vigor, life, youth and energy you should have. Hardly anyone escapes them. Food wastes accumulate and fermentation takes place. As many as 36 of these ever-forming poisons are already known to science.

But nature has provided a natural sort of antidote. In a scientifically pure state this antidote is available to everybody under the trade name of Nujol. Nujol is a unique substance unlike anything else known to man. It cannot be absorbed by the body or any of the organs of the body. At the same time, it has an affinity for body poisons. It takes hold of them, absorbs them, and carries them out of the system safely and harmlessly. It also softens waste matter and brings about normal evacuation of the intestines. Gets rid of poisons, gets rid of food wastes, tends to heal and soothe irritated membranes. Contains no drugs or medicines. Absolutely harmless.

Perfected by the Chemical Products Division of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey.

Nujol contains no drugs or medicine. It's in a class by itself. You can take it with perfect safety under any conditions. It won't cause gas or griping pains, or affect the stomach or kidneys.

Every corner druggist has Nujol. Make sure you get the genuine. Look for the Nujol bottle with the label on the back that you can read right through the bottle. Don't delay, get Nujol today.

MERCY LOOMS FOR CITY'S POPLARS

In reply to hundreds of protest letters that have poured into the Council chamber regarding the recent city ordinance condemning poplar trees, City Forester James L. Grimes, head of the forestry division of the City Planning Commission, declared yesterday that it is not the commission's intention to exterminate the poplar tree.

He said that only trees whose roots are known to clog the city sewers and water mains will be ordered cut down. Forester Grimes lauded the well-bred Carolina poplar tree, but many poplars of the Carolina variety, he said, besides having long limbs which are easily broken by high winds, endangering pedestrians and porches, scatter insect pests and absorb the water necessary for the life of grass and shrubs.

BUGS BAER Says

THE English girl who swam the Channel in a rowboat has been fined $550 for false appearances in a bathing suit.

The fine was plastered on by a London magistrate in an attempt to keep swindlers out of the Channel during banking hours.

ARTHUR BUG BAER.

The magistrate admitted that she may have been actuated by the finest motives, but that when you claim to swim the Channel your motive is secondary to the motive power.

Her trainer was taxed $225 for being an accessory before the laugh. The magistrate learned how to swim on a piano stool and is a good musician.

We are glad this hoax has been punished by queer decisions. The result leaves Gertrude Ederle the undisputed queen of axle-grease geniuses.

Gertrude swam the Channel with no other aid than that furnished by three newspapermen singing mammy songs.

That's almost enough reason to swim the Atlantic.

Channel swimming is an old offense, but no woman had ever crossed until Ederle lathered herself with soap fat and thumped her way from France to Dover.

The photographs of Gertie made her look like a sea-going Godiva who had drowned her horse.

Up until this time baths had been considered more or less private, but Gertie's lack of garters caused all the young ladies to determine to swim the Channel or be photographed in the attempt.

We are sorry, but the London magistrate slapped a fine on the English girl. Channel swimming was giving the Dawn School of Greek Dancing a close race for undraped honors.

The girl asked the magistrate for a chance to prove that she could actually swim, but the judge figured that a tub was out of place in a court room.

This closes the incident for the winter, for the Channel water is now too cold for publicity.

"You Said It, Marceline!"

By MARCELINE d'ALROY

ON STOLEN FRUITS.

At EIGHT, stolen fruits may be
SWEET, And so they may be
At EIGHTEEN. But at TWENTY-EIGHT, it is doubtful,
ONE kiss in the dark may
Leave a PLEASANT taste,
But a fond heart given in a
WEAK moment, is likely to be Left with pretty BITTER IMPRESSIONS. For
He who stole it—
Must RUN,
And ANOTHER thing,
At twenty-eight MOST women
Like to LOVE in comfort and SECURITY. And no woman is Really HAPPY whose ears are Listening to AUGHT else but Her lover's PRAISES.
DESIRE may be snatched
Like an apple from a TREE, and half-eaten
Or CAST aside,
But LOVE is borne on Wings of SACRIFICE, which Hold it aloft and safe
Until a PERMANENT resting-
Place can be found.
STOLEN fruits are sweet
ONLY To PAUPERS or children—in LOVE.

Voters Tell Commissioners To Continue Big Work

The election of Armstrong, Babcock and McGovern as county commissioners in the order given is an approval of Messrs. Armstrong and Babcock and, at the same time, an indication that voters feel it is a good thing to have a possible dissenter on the board of commissioners. While they have given notable indorsement to the two majority members, through a comparatively large vote, they appear to have felt that Mr. McGovern was needed, too, as a sort of "watchdog of the treasury."

Yet the vote was in no way a "slap" at Commissioners Armstrong and Babcock. In reality it was the word of the citizens that they stand back of them and want them to continue the big improvement works, good roads, etc., with which their administration has been concerned to a large extent.

The election is over. The voters have spoken, and the minority must be satisfied with the majority decision. It is a time to forget feuds. If reform be needed in the county commissioners' office, the voters feel that the board itself is able to effect such changes as may be necessary. And that is true. Factional strife should be put aside for the good of the county.

Above all, the election means that the important work of improving Allegheny county shall be continued.

Excess Taxation an Evil Government Should Stop

The Democrats are right in demanding that the Federal government stop collecting more money than is needed to run the government and pay off our war debt in an orderly manner.

The money and the earnings of the country belong to the people of the country. The government consists of their representatives. There is no defending a taxation policy which continues, year after year, to take hundreds and hundreds of millions of dollars more from the people than is required to meet the expenditures voted by their representatives, constituting the government. Nevertheless, that is exactly what is happening.

The annual surplus in the Treasury of the United States on July 1, at the end of each fiscal year, has been as follows:

1922	$313,000,000	1925	$250,000,000
1923	309,000,000	1926	377,000,000
1924	505,000,000	1927	635,000,000

What has been done with this stupendous surplus of $2,389,000,000 collected from the people in six years IN EXCESS OF THE NEEDS OF GOVERNMENT?

Of course, it has not been thrown away. It has been applied to reducing the war debt. That fact is alleged as a justification for the present burdensome taxation, and even as a justification for continuing it. Last week representatives of the American Farm Bureau Federation appeared at the tax hearings in Washington and urged that there be no tax cut, but that we go on collecting surplus and applying it to debt reduction.

But the regular expenditures of government, as voted by Congress, include ample provision for retiring the debt. We devote to that purpose all our receipts of interest and principal payments from foreign governments, now amounting to two hundred million dollars a year. This is in addition to our main fund for debt reduction, consisting of a sinking fund which is larger each successive year and which during the current year amounts to more than three hundred and fifty million dollars.

So our REGULAR provision for retiring the national debt will wipe out more than five hundred and fifty million dollars of it during the present year.

That is the rate of debt retirement established by Congress. It is a rate that will obliterate the entire debt in thirty years. That is, we shall within one generation discharge the total indebtedness incurred by this country in the greatest war in history, a war that we said was fought for future generations, a "war to end wars," a war for the freedom of the seas, a war for the rights of downtrodden people and what not.

The indications, in Treasury receipts, are that during the present year the Federal government will again take from the pockets of the people six hundred million dollars more than it needs. The process should be stopped.

The Democratic leaders in Congress are right in indorsing the program of the United States Chamber of Commerce to reduce the exorbitant corporation income tax from thirteen and one-half to ten per cent, to abolish the Federal inheritance tax, to abolish the outlived war taxes on automobiles and theater admissions. The total of these tax reductions will still be unable to absorb the surplus. Next year we shall probably be able to cut taxes still further.

It is a form of governmental extravagance to collect this surplus, no matter how beneficently the government may think it is applying the proceeds collected by its extravagance.

Van Loon and Wife

About everybody is married, has been married or expects to be married.

Hence the wide popular interest in weddings, divorces—and in a matrimonial experiment like that of Hendrik Willem Van Loon, writer, and Frances Goodrich, actress.

Their marriage of a month remained a secret until the other day, since Mr. and Mrs. Van Loon maintained their separate abodes and went about their separate businesses. They intend, according to the author, who got famous by doing history in words of one syllable, to stick by "the ideal of complete and absolute independence."

The ordinary run of folks, as Mr. Van Loon says, don't face the problem of "two professional people trying to make a success of marrying in our highly complicated modern society."

They get married for the quite simple and old-fashioned purpose of having a home and raising a family and winning such happiness as the years shall bestow. So there is no reason for them to attempt such a variation on the standard matrimonial theme as the historian and his bride are trying with their two homes and communication by telephone.

Nevertheless, husbands and wives will discuss the Van Loons over breakfast coffee cups, speculating in the light of their own experience with a more stereotyped kind of wedlock on how this new long-range marriage arrangement will work.

And they may be permitted a quiet smile at the latest word about the Van Loon matrimonial innovation—the suggestion that the pair will sink their modernistic ideas for awhile, at least, and depart shortly on a conventional honeymoon.

Well, after all, the institution of marriage has been with us for a long time. Nobody contends that it's perfect; but the most sincere experimenters with up-to-the-minute improvements encounter certain stubborn fundamentals.

Everyone will wish the Van Loons luck in working out their particular problems. For what marriage is without problems, of one kind or another?

Garrett P Serviss Says:

Tolstoy's Rotation Theory

WHAT may not a philosopher believe or teach others to believe—if he can? Here is Count Leo L. Tolstoy, son of the great Russian novelist and writer, and himself novelist and writer, asserting that East-to-West flights are not successful, and will not be successful, because they are made contrary to the earth's movement of rotation.

In "substantiation" of his theory he is quoted as saying that ocean navigators agree that an ocean voyage from west to east is almost invariably more fortunate in all respects than one in the opposite direction. This, he says, is because a western voyage is against "the strong pull created by the natural movement of the earth." He also expresses the belief that "humans are in a better mental and physical condition when moving in the direction of rotation."

Leaving out of view for the moment, his notion about the mental effect of the earth's rotation, the Count is partly right, and partly wrong. Whether a voyage toward the east is easier to make than one toward the west, depends upon the latitude. The effect of the earth's rotation on the direction of the winds is different near the tropics from what it is in higher latitudes. Across the northern Atlantic the prevailing winds and ocean currents are eastwardly, helping the mariner and the flier on his way; but nearer the equator, in the trade wind zones, the situation is reversed, and, as Columbus found to his great advantage, winds and currents set westward.

How could Count Tolstoy reconcile these differences with his theory that man may learn to live centuries instead of only a few score of years, not by the aid of medicine but by movement with the earth's rotation toward the "region of origin," or "the celestial East"? He believes that a motor may yet be invented that will send man through the air at a thousand miles an hour—and so do I, with thousands of other optimists. But his expectations about what may follow such rapid traveling soar out of the present reach of mere earthly science.

"It is my wish," he says, "that an experiment be made in a plane traveling at terrific speed to the east in which a physician and a scientist will observe the effect of the movement on planets and humans and a cat or other animal. I am confident that direct and understandable revelations would come of such an analysis."

In the Einsteinian wonder-show we are treated to a vision of a body moving so swiftly that it gets shorter and shorter in the direction of its movement until, if it travels as fast as light it becomes infinitely thin! At the same time, in the same exhibition of imagination's mathematical marvels, we are told to watch a moving body getting more and more massive the faster it goes until at the speed of light its mass becomes infinite. Infinitely thin and infinitely heavy! To such conclusions, O, Horatio, doth your philosophy lead!

A Goal Ahead

YOU have been incapacitated so long that sustained periods of labor are impossible.

Therefore you have given up trying to accomplish anything.

But you might surprise yourself if you would try a definite system of rest and work.

Work an hour and rest an hour and keep it up all day.

The great thing is to have system.

Keep trying till you know just how much recuperation you need for a given amount of work.

Efficient division of work and rest with a definite purpose in accomplishment means progress.

Don't go through life aimlessly.

A bit here, a rest there, and a goal ahead, and life grows brighter and better.

The Rhyming Optimist

Reassurance

SOMEWHERE its green hills rise, I know; somewhere its placid rivers smile, its robins sing, its roses blow, its gay roads wander, mile on mile. The land I seek will meet my gaze, although I know not how nor where; this day or after many days I shall drink its balmy air. Somewhere my loneliness will meet the solace of the friend I need, an understanding soul will greet and crown with joy each dream, each deed. How lovely, then, life's ways will be, with these deep needs of being met, what tranquil hours, serene and free from worldly weariness and fret! Somewhere, though it be far away across the plains of time and space, the light will dawn; so, for today, I am content in this, my place.

Tales that are Told

Her Temper's Outlet

SHE was married to a man whose devotion had never lagged for a second, who never lost his self-control or grumbled whatever happened. Unfortunately, she was born with a temper like gun-powder.

"Tell me, dear," he said, after one outburst on her part, "how it was I never discovered this unhappy weakness of yours during our courtship days? How did you restrain yourself?"

The poor violatile woman hesitated before answering such a straightforward question. Then, sobbing bitterly, she laid her fair head upon his sturdy shoulder.

"I used to go upstairs," she gasped," and b-b-bite p-p-pieces out of the top of the oak b-b-bureau."

Worse Than Ever

A CERTAIN actress, though married and long past her first youth, made up so wonderfully that she looked no older than eighteen.

A young man who had often watched her from the stalls sought out the stage manager and asked for an introduction to the lady.

"I'm sure she's as charming and sweet off the stage as she is on," he remarked.

"She's all that," agreed the manager cordially—so cordially that a fearful suspicion flashed into the youth's mind.

"I say, you—you're not her husband, are you?" he stammered.

"No, oh, no!" said the manager. "I'm her son!"

Nothing Earned

A DARKIE went to consult the local doctor. As he was leaving, the doctor remarked:

"You're forgotten something."

"No!" replied the darkie.

"Yes, you have," said the doctor; "my fee for the advice I have given you is four dollars."

"Yes," answered the darkie, "but I ain't going to take your advice."—North London Recorder.

Where Nothing Gives

A MAN was talking with a friend about a trip he had paid to Aberdeen.

"I see they have an old bridge there which dates from the time of Robert the Bruce," he remarked.

"Yes," replied the friend, who added, more from a desire to make conversation than anything else: "I wonder if there is any danger of it giving?"

"Not in Aberdeen," came the immediate answer.

LISTEN, WORLD! ELSIE ROBINSON Says: The New School Room

IS YOUR 16-year-old youngster balking at going on with school? Does he want to quit and go to work? Does he complain that "spending four years studying English 'n' grammar 'n' French 'n' history doesn't get a fellow anywhere nowadays?"

If he does, don't jump on him. He's right and the leading educators of America are backing him in his complaint. So are the employers, the unions and the United States government itself. For years they have been battling with an increasing hoard of untrained, bewildered young workers, the majority of whom inevitably drift into the tragic army of the misfits. We're paying heavily for those spoiled lives. SECRETARY HOOVER SAYS THAT OUR ANNUAL LOSS DUE TO INEFFICIENT WORKERS IS THE APPALLING SUM OF FOUR BILLIOINS OF DOLLARS. What the cost is in human suffering and despair, God alone knows.

What's the trouble? Inadequate education. An academic form of education that was adequate for the gentlemen who had menials to do their manual labor, no longer serves in a country where every gentleman is supposed to be his own laborer—and where every husky youngester wants to be up and at it.

We need trained workers and we can no longer afford to waste the most precious training years. We'll have to devise something that will tie up the new schoolroom with practical life. And we have found it in VOCATIONAL TRAINING.

Vocational training finds out what a youngster is best fitted to do and then trains him to do it. It doesn't confine that training to the schoolroom. It sends the student into factories, banks and shops, to work under the supervision of the employers and foremen, shoulder to shoulder with other men, facing actual market conditions. And it does this with the consent of the unions, which accept such work as practical apprenticeship.

Listen to what they're doing in Fort Bragg, Cal. There the high school co-operates with the following plants for trade training: The California Western Railroad and Nevigation Company; the Coast Stage Line, Inc., the Fort Bragg News, the Liberty Bank and the Union Lumber Company's plant and department store. All branches of mechanical work is taught, as are office procedure, printing and banking.

Students are not forced to take trade training, but those who desire to do so alternate their time on half basis between the regular school work and the trade training. Any plan of alternation that fits the student's work, the industry and the school is acceptable. They have half-day, day about, and week-about plans in co-operation.

Uncle Sam is co-operating, too. There are apprenticeship courses now in the Mare Island Navy Yard, junior high and high schools given in the actual shops under department heads. These courses include shop mathematics, shop physics, industrial materials, industrial methods, shop chemistry, mechanical drawing and civics.

Keep your eye on vocational training. It is already at work in every state in the union. It is probably the most revolutionary thing that has happened since they dumped the tea in Boston Harbor.

BE A PITTSBURGH BOOSTER
To Your Friends in Other Cities

New York, Nov. 10.—They were talking—a group of those expert reporters who sat in on the world's biggest assignments—of what men and women do under stress of a great emotional crisis. Particularly those who out of a seemingly clear sky are hit by scandal.

One of the great movie comedians, untrussed by a charge of murder, spent most of his time awaiting trial in his garage. There he sat in silence in his huge car shifting the gears for hours at a time. He refused to eat and sleep for days at a stretch.

An actress of great beauty who figured in the death of a well-known sporting character used to crouch in the corner of her darkened cell in the Tombs, dry-eyed and staring at the drab wall, until she toppled over in a faint. This would happen several times a day.

A reporter leaped out of a taxicab one stormy night and bounded up the steps of a Fifth avenue mansion to tell the master of the house his daughter had been killed in a joy ride with a prominent married man. The father swayed as a beef at the blow of an ax. Then he went to the bathroom and sent a bullet through his head.

A society woman who married a scapegrace foreign nobleman was called to a police station, during the first week of their honeymoon, to identify a man caught red-handed in a hotel jewel robbery. The culprit was her husband. She spat in his face and walked away.

One of the prominent bankers whose escapades with a stage lady resulted in the breaking up of his home and the loss of position, used to remain in seclusion until darkness and then go to a midtown park, where he would sit and whittle until the coming of dawn.

Most men and women whose world topples about them, with headlines ringing their infamy, turn to some form of religion for consolation. Nearly all their reading is from the Bible.

Many athletic young men fill the languid role of life guards at various beach resorts during summer to pay for their winter at colleges. The job, it seems, offers unusual opportunities for desirable marriages. Last summer's crop included three who married heiresses. From loaf to loaf, as it were.

Indeed, there's compensation on the beaches for women as well as men. Look at these diving ducklings who marry the millionaires or become stars in the films.

This story is going the rounds of the underworld and concerns the frustrated holdup of a Harlem bank as the result of the tip-off of a stool pigeon. The job was to be done by two carloads of crooks who would disguise as motion picture players—cameramen, a director, with megaphone and puttees, pseudo actors and actresses in makeup and such. An agent was to attempt to secure permission to use the bank during the noon lull for a movie holdup. Faked letters of introduction from a film executive doing a heavy business with the bank had been secured. The policemen in the neighborhood were to be duped into keeping the crowds back at nearby corners. Then the bank was actually to be held up by men known to be killers when foiled. True or not, it showed rare criminal ingenuity. Somehow this paragraph seems all mixed up, but we hope you catch the idea.

A hotel opened recently near Greenwich Village bearing the lyrical name of Honeymoon Harbor. It failed to draw patronage, and the management discovered prospective patrons did not care to be thought newlyweds. Under another name the hotel is doing a fair business.

A Forty-second street manicure parlor sends out circulars with the line: Come in and give our little girls a hand."

Not since I had a youthful crush on Della Fox and watched her smoke a cigaret from the gallery have I been so thrilled by an individual performance on the stage as that of Harry Tyler in James Gleason's otherwise fair to middling comedy, "The Shannons." Mr. Tyler plays the part of a ham vaudeville actor and makes it hum.

Talk—It's Human

By DR. FRANK CRANE

One distinguishing characteristic of the man as against the beast is that the man talks.

The expression of ideas by the use of vocal symbols is a mark of civilization.

Primitive man probably grunted or roared, as animals do, and primitive man, like the animals, was always fighting.

The rule seems to be: Talk or fight.

If you see a man every day and he always keeps his mouth shut and never says a word to you, you are going to think all kinds of things about him. There is nothing to curb your imagination about how evil a man he may possibly be. He may be plotting deep things against your welfare. He may be a second Raffles or an undiscovered burglar. He may be anything and probably is.

But if he will talk about anything—converse about the weather or health—it will do much to alleviate your suspicion of him.

Dumb things are dangerous.

One reason why people all over the country are suspicious of Wall Street is because Wall Street does not advertise. It keeps dangerously silent.

One reason why people used to distrust banks was because banks did not formerly advertise. The theory seems to be that if you don't say anything about yourself you are crooked. Perhaps this theory is wrong, and our desire to make a man talk about himself is a mistaken one. But it is human nature just the same.

If a man will move into a little town, keep to himself and say nothing for a year, he will probably be put down as a suspicious character.

Conversation seems to be the hydrostatic paradox of humans. It somehow brings us to a common level.

So when it was announced the other day that President Coolidge and President Calles of the United States and of Mexico, had conversed by telephone, it was quite a significant item.

It does not make any difference what they talk about so long as they talk.

Somehow when people get together and talk things over their difficulties disappear, and when you can't talk to a man you think all kinds of things about him.

John Wannamaker never did a better stroke of business than when he began talking about miscellaneous things every day to the public through advertisements. Somehow from this the public got the idea that Wanamaker was human and the main assets of a store or any kind of business that depends upon public favor is to have people believe that it is a human concern.

The Golden Balls

YOU will find my text today in the gospel according to old Grecian mythology.

Atalanta was as beautiful as Helen of Troy and might even give Highland Mary a few pointers on winsomeness.

She was a co-ed who patronized the gym and the cinder tract, and was the crack sprinter of the team. And one day she made a standing challenge to every Nurmi on the campus.

She said she'd do the Lohengrin with any young chap who could beat her in the half-mile run. But if she won she insisted that the head of the defeated runner should be brought to her in a silver charger. That was the trick of the dancing damsel who got the head of John the Baptist served a la carte.

Well, Atalanta accumulated a grim row of occiputs on the mantle of her boudoir.

Finally another young fellow, called Hippomenes, checked his fear and discretion under the grandstand and stepped out onto the track to race for a bride or a burial.

Soon he was reading Atalanta's sign, "Excuse my dust," and the rooters were on the tiptoes of expectancy for the next decapitation.

Then Hippomenes drew a golden ball from under his sport clothes and threw it in front of Atalanta. She turned aside and picked it up and lost a few seconds. Two more golden balls followed and the fleet-footed Atalanta lost the race and happy Hippomenes won the pick of the debutantes.

Just sit in the bleachers and watch the life races and you'll see daily decapitations because the runners turn aside to pick up golden balls.

Last week I talked to a young man who, by all the rules of Hoyle, ought to be on the trail of a bachelor's degree in one of the big knowledge houses. But at his high school commencement a man offered him a job, and he chased the golden ball.

But last night another young racer told me of several golden balls that the fates had thrown ahead of him, positions with a tripled salary. But he has a goal in sight and sprints ahead heedless of the siren gold.

Folks, do you know these people, Atalanta and Hippomenes?
